DIAZ GOVERNMENT FIGHTING FOR ITS LIFE; REBELS GAINING

WHOLE REPUBLIC AFLAME WITH SEDITION AND FURIOUS FIGHTING IS IN PROGRESS AT MANY POINTS MADERO WITH 1,000 MOUNTED MEN BATTLING FEDERAL FORCES SOUTHERN MEXICO CUT OFF AND SITUATION BELIEVED CRITICAL BRIDGES DYNAMITED.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 23.—Wednesday.—At midnight the rebels at Torreon had driven the soldiers from the river banks into the city streets and captured 100 of them. The soldiers have been reinforced by nearly 700 infantry which came from the south and detained four miles south of the city. The rebels are becoming more boisterous and bolder and they seem to have more arms.

Washington, Nov. 22. Southern Mexico practically has been cut off from the capital, railroad bridges having been blown up or burned, and the revolution has attained great proportions in that section of the republic especially in Yucatan.

This is the burden of unofficial advices received here tonight. The recipients of the unofficial information declare that Vera Cruz will be captured by the revolutionists within three days and that the revolutionary movement is sweeping northwestward.

A copy of the proclamation issued by General Madero was received here today. So far it has not been formally presented to the state department. It contains an outline of the proposed new government and pledges Mexican protection to American lives and property.

EL PASO, Nov. 22.—It is reported that Madero, accompanied by nearly 1,000 men, all mounted, attacked Cuatro Cienegas tonight at 11 o'clock and a battle is now in progress. This is the report in Torreon at midnight.

EL PASO, Nov. 22.—At 11 o'clock tonight the revolutionists who left Gomez Palacio and the vicinity of Torreon are reported gathering in large numbers at San Pedro de la Colinia, 15 miles east of Gomez Palacio.

The roads leading there are crowded with men going to the place, and it is estimated there are more than 12,000 present. Neither the police nor troops are following. The latter seem content with policing Gomez Palacio and Torreon.

EL PASO, Nov. 22.—A train of eight coaches of soldiers from the City of Mexico is traveling north and was ordered not to stop at Torreon, but to proceed to Chihuahua. They will reach there at 7 o'clock in the morning.

FORT WORTH, Nov. 22.—A special to the Record from El Paso says: Parral, Mex., is in a state of siege, and is cut off from the outside world. the jefe politico and chief of police having been killed and also several revolutionists and rurales. Gomez Palacio is in charge of troops, several rurales and 20 revolutionists were killed there Monday, and the rest run out to the hills.

It is feared a number of Americans were killed.

This report was brought by American passengers on the National railways train arriving in El Paso this morning.

American men, women and children piled off the train from the interior with all the baggage they could bring on short notice, and all determined to get out of the republic as soon as possible. They are from all parts of northern Mexico, where the revolution seems to have reached its height.

Troops are being rushed to Parral and Gomez Palacio from Aguas Calientes and Chihuahua in solid troop trains. No trains are running to Parral, and no communication can be had with the mining towns.

Troop Train Dynamited.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 22.—The report that many soldiers had been killed by the dynamiting of a bridge and wrecking of a train on the Madera branch of the Mexico Northwestern was confirmed here this morning. Reports state that a captain is among the number killed. Early reports that 300 had been killed are doubtless exaggerated.

All information indicates that the Madera line out of Chihuahua is in the hands of the insurgents. The line is owned by an English syndicate. Wires are cut and little information can be secured.

Bridge Dynamited.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 22.—Additional details of the attack on a passenger train near Madera on the Chihuahua branch of the Mexico Northwestern railway show that the train contained a squad of soldiers and was fired on by revolutionists, several of the soldiers being killed. Two bridges were then burned and the road tied up.

An unconfirmed report is current here here at 10 o'clock that the big Alamilla bridge on the National of Mexico line below Chihuahua has been destroyed. Report is doubted by railroad officials here.

Mass Troops on Border.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Nov. 2[2]. Mexican troops to the number of 500 have been rushed [illegible] to take up [illegible] to take up [illegible] Nogales and this city. Two hundred soldiers will arrive in Agua Prieta at midnight and encamp here on the border. Patrols have been stationed along the international line within sight of one another and tonight these will be trebled with a signal system for transmitting [illegible]. The customs house permits issued to American hunters to take guns across the line have been revoked, even those given in writing by the war department, many of which are held by Americans of this city.

Americans coming from Nacozari state that the feeling of the natives towards Americans is friendly there.

Colonel Costerlitzy with the main body of his rurales has removed his headquarters to Naco, considered a dangerous point because of the chain of mountains which crosses the border there, giving smugglers an opportunity to evade detection.

Mexican citizens at Agua Prieta held a meeting with the authorities today and pledged their support to the government and guaranteed to protect the customs houses.

The Mexican authorities today enlisted American riders with horses to serve as line guards in the border patrol. They will be paid $10, Mexican, per day, and the high price is tempting more Americans to offer their services. It is expected that the street connecting Douglas and Agua Prieta will be closed tomorrow and the same precaution taken at Naco and Nogales, thus shutting off all border cities from El Paso to California.

Rebels Flee From Parral.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 22.—A trainload of federal troops arrived in Parral this morning early from Jimines ahead of another train of state rurales. The members of the attacking force fled to the hills soon after midnight, when reports flew about the city to the effect that federal troops and rurales were en route from Jiminez.

It is reported the leaders escaped southward on the Parral and Durango railway by impressing into service a train which had been unable to get a crew the day before during the riots. A number of casualties are reported but it cannot be learned at this hour if any Americans were killed. Wholesale arrests are being made.

Gomez Palacio Retaken.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 22.—Four hundred revolutionists who took part in the assault on Parral, referred to in yesterday's dispatches, were repulsed with a loss of 15 dead, the inhabitants withstanding the attack for many hours until troops were able to reach the scene from Chihuahua and Monterey.

Gomez Palacio was retaken today by the federal troops, according to official advices received here. The others who occupied the town last night were pursued by mounted troops and eventually dispersed, losing seven dead. The troops lost two.

Three thousand troops of all arms, which left here yesterday, are expected to reach Torreon. Gomez Palacio, Lerdo and Parral early tomorrow. It is believed here they will be ample to cope with the situation.

Lower California Guarded.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 22.—That a rising in Lower California similar to those in other parts of Mexico is feared by the Mexican authorities on the peninsula, is strongly suggested by the fact that the customs officers guarding the line at Tia Juana today received

Diaz Assassinated, Rumor in Denver

DENVER, Nov. 22.—A rumor that President Diaz of Mexico had been assassinated gained circulation here tonight, but efforts to trace it to any authentic source proved futile.

CHIHUAHUA SURROUNDED BY REBELS

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 22. (midnight) Chihuahua is reported in great danger tonight, it being estimated that there are between 8,000 and 10,000 revolutionists gathered between the city and the plant of the American Smelting and Refining company. All responsible citizens are armed and expecting to be attacked at any moment. Crowds of defenders occupy the tops of all the banks, churches and large buildings throughout the city.

Fighting has been going on at Torreon since early evening; a crowd of 2,000 revolutionists is on the river front opposite the city and 60 soldiers are engaged against them from the city side. Large numbers of rebels are reported killed, most of them unarmed. The Mexican Central railroad's right-of-way is being kept cleared by soldiers and rurales.

FREMONT MINE AFIRE; MEN ESCAPE

200 Men Underground When Flames Break Out in C. F. & I. Property.

ALL BUT THREE ARE SAVED

Prompt Rescue Work and Coolness of Entombed Miners Avert New Holocaust.

FLORENCE, Colo., Nov. 22. At 10 o'clock tonight it was reported from the Fremont mine that with the exception of three men, all of the 200 men in the mine at the time the fire broke out had been rescued.

One of the men yet underground is known to be in the engine room, but the other two have not been located. The 30 mules will, in the opinion of those on the scene, suffocate and it is feared that the three men will also perish as smoke is pouring out of the mine shaft and it will be difficult, if not impossible, for even the bravest men to enter to rescue the three victims still within.

CANON CITY, Nov. 22.—Miners, caught in the workings of the Fremont mine of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company, which took fire from an underground mule stable late this afternoon, are being hoisted to the surface one by one, through an air shaft, which offers the only way of escape from the burning mine.

The fire has been driven to the main haulage shaft by ventilating air currents, and the main shaft is now burning fiercely. Many of the miners still underground have barricaded themselves in chambers where the air is good, and will await rescue parties before attempting to reach the air shaft. The main passages are full of smoke and they were ordered to wait until the fan at the air shaft could clear the passages before attempting to escape.

The special train carrying the rescue crews of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company and the government will arrive about 11:30 tonight. As soon as the train arrives, trained rescue men, with oxygen helmets, will be sent down to convey the imprisoned miners to the surface. As soon as all have been taken out, the ventilating currents will be shut off to stifle the fire, and helmet men will be sent down to fight the flames.

NEWS TO CARTER

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 23.—Private advices from Washington state that U. S. Senator Thomas Carter will be tendered appointment as a judge of the court of commerce, created by the last Congress, and for that purpose has been called to the national capital by President Taft.

WOMEN ROUSED TO NEW FURY

Asquith's Announcement Followed by Most Serious Suffragette Riots Yet.

WOMAN SLAPS HIM IN FACE

Aged Statesman Also Mobbed and House of Commons Stormed.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—The political campaign is being waged with a fierceness almost unknown in London, both by politicians on stump and the suffragettes on the battlefield.

The "Battle of Downing Street," fought this afternoon when several hundred suffragettes attempted to storm the premier's residence, assaulted Mr. Asquith and Austin Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, and broke many windows in the government offices, surpassed all previous spectacles of the sort. About 150 women and several men supporters are in the police station tonight. Many of the women had their clothes half torn from their backs.

Following an announcement by the prime minister in the house of commons that if he were still in power at the session of parliament, the government would give facilities for the consideration of a suffrage bill, a large body of women, inflamed rather than placated by this promise, which was characterized as "nothing more or less than an insult to the cause," left Caxton hall in search of the premier.

Asquith Mobbed.

They encountered Mr. Asquith en route, and before the premier realized the situation he was surrounded by irate suffragettes. It was not long before he recognized that he was in a hostile camp for without any preliminaries Miss Henrietta Williams struck the government leader, at the same time ejaculating:

"You tax women as heavily as men, yet women are not represented in parliament."

Shrill police whistles brought officers from all nearby quarters and as the women struggled among themselves for the privilege of getting at him, the premier was hustled into a taxicab. As the car started off with a bound Miss Williams made another attempt to reach its occupant and in doing so put her fist through the glass of the window. She was pulled away still crying "traitor" and "coward." About one hundred women were arrested.

The rioting continued until evening when squads of women attacked the residences of Sir Edward Grey, the foreign secretary of Winston Spencer Churchill, the home secretary, and of Lewis Harcourt secretary of state for the colonies. Stones crashed through the windows of the houses. Sir Edward Grey's bearing the brunt of the attack.

Attack Old Man.

Oneband spied Mr. Birrell strolling through St. James park to the Athenaeum club, and swooped down upon the aged statesman, knocking his hat over his eyes and kicking him about the legs. When help came and the women were driven off, Mr. Birrell

MAIN WATER FLOW BELIEVED TAPPED

Workmen at Heading of Roosevelt Deep Drainage Tunnel Deluged With Outpour From Drill Holes. Superintendent Fuller Convinced That Bore Has Penetrated Principal Underground Channel. Work Proceeds Cautiously.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 22. That the main Beacon hill water course, the objective of the Roosevelt deep drainage tunnel, was tapped this afternoon, is the positive belief expressed this evening by Charles H. Fuller, superintendent in charge of the tunnel work, although there still remains the likelihood that additional shots will release a still heavier flow of water.

The drainage now obtaining accomplishes the purpose of the tunnel and whether the bore will be driven much farther in the hope of tapping a well defined water course is problematical. The flow encountered today, in the opinion of Mr. Fuller—the only person who can speak authoritatively tonight, Contractor Carlton being out of the city—is such that the tunnel may be considered as brought to all intents and purposes to an entirely successful completion.

The flow from the drill holes at the tunnel heading which for several days bee been in the breccia, following its emergence from the Beacon hill monzonite plug, increased markedly today, the water spurting several feet and deluging the machine men. The possibility that shooting the 15 holes simultaneously might release a large volume of water appeared such that the superintendent, to minimize the danger, ordered the shots fired two at a time, and this was accomplished successfully. Tonight the flow from the tunnel portal is estimated as considerably above 4,000 gallons a minute, but the night shift is continuing the work at the heading.

To hasten the work of draining the El Paso mine, the piping in the Gem drill hole was unjointed today 20 feet below the fifth or 700-foot level and the water rapidly receded, permitting a force of men to be sent for the first time in nearly five years into that level which is being cleansed up preparatory to the resumption of mining.

History of Tunnel.

The Cripple Creek Drainage Tunnel company was organized in August, 1906, under the laws of the state of Colorado, and by its articles of incorporation was authorized to issue one million (1,000,000) shares of the par value of $1 per share.

The line of the tunnel had been previously surveyed by the company's engineer, T. R. Countryman, deputy United States mineral surveyor, and right of way deeds were secured from owners of mining claims situate upon the direct line of the tunnel. Seven lode mining claims and a mill site location were made, and the necessary patent work was promptly completed. No adverse proceedings were commenced or entertained.

Work Begins May 1, 1907.

Active operations commenced on May 1, 1907, when the necessary buildings were constructed and machinery installed at the tunnel portal on Cripple Creek. A three years' contract was entered into with the Colorado Light and Power company of Canon City for power, and about 2 3/4 miles of power line was constructed and the proper connections made. The Colorado Light and Power company, recognizing the enterprise as a public benefit, made a specially low rate for the power to be furnished.

The directors of the tunnel company to expedite the work had previously determined to sink an intermediate shaft, to permit of work from two headings in addition to the portal heading, and the shaft was located at a distance of 8,000 feet from the portal. The shaft was sunk to the tunnel level 600 feet, five by ten feet in the clear, and a complete mining plant was installed and remains in operation.

The plant at the portal was fully equipped with a 12-drill Norwalk electric compressor, 175-horsepower motor for operating the same, 17-foot Connersville blower to furnish air, and 60-horsepower motor for its operation, compressor building, magazine, boarding and rooming houses for the miners and house and office building for the superintendent.

Work was started by the company, but a contract was decided on and awarded Lund and Stream of Cripple Creek, but after 10 days' of hard work, in which time but 18 feet of the granite had been pierced, the contract was forfeited. The El Paso Gold Mining company then took charge and between August 15 to December 16 drove the tunnel a distance of 805.35 linear feet. Again the tunnel company took charge and added 466.35 linear feet, making a total distance for the year 1907 of 1,289.7 linear feet.

Carlton Takes Contract.

Bids were then advised for and the contract was secured by A. E. Carlton, president of the First National bank of Cripple Creek, the president of several prominent mining corporations of the district, heavily interested in the stocks of other corporations and one of the heaviest individual property owners of the district. Work started on February 8, 1908, and has since been a continuous. The work under the Carlton contract from the portal heading, was in charge of James A. McIlwee who in January, 1909, made the remarkable record of 436 feet. The work was completed with Charles H. Fuller in charge as superintendent. Its total length is approximately three miles.

The cost of the tunnel, including the plants at the tunnel portal and shaft, the pipe lines and tracking, machine drills, power and other necessary expenditures, has approximated $600,000. The total cost will be later made public in a financial statement covering the operations of the company from date of organization to the final completion of the work.

DR. CRIPPEN HANGED THIS MORNING FOR WIFE-MURDER

LONDON, Nov. 23.—(Wednesday)—Dr. Harvey Crippen was hanged at 9:02 o'clock this morning in the yard of Pentonville prison.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—All preparations have been made for the hanging of Dr. Hawley H. Crippen tomorrow morning within the gloomy walls of Pentonville prison which stands in one of the most dismal locations of London. It is probable the execution will take place between 8 and 9 o'clock.

Public Executioner Ellis of Rochdale, who hanged a wife murderer at Liverpool this morning, arrived in London on the evening train. The scaffold was erected today. A few tenements overlook the prison yard and to bar the tenants from a glimpse of the tragedy, a big canvass screen has been put up before the gallows.

Only a small group of officials will attend and every effort has been made to prevent morbid crowds from gathering in the neighborhood. Even the customary official announcement of the hanging is not likely to be posted until evening. The body probably will be buried in quicklime in the prison yard. This is the custom at Pentonville and is carried out in all English prisons.

Dr. Crippen frequently entered the prison at 6 o'clock this evening to spend the night with the condemned man. He will walk with Crippen to the scaffold.

Confession Story Denied.

An evening paper caused a sensation by flooding the city with placards that Crippen had made a written confession. Every one in a position to know denied this.

Ethel Le Neve said:

"I was the last person to see Dr. Crippen. So far as my knowledge extends he has not made such a statement."

It was also reported that Crippen today wrote a statement for a Sunday paper which bought a previous story of his. The paper, however denied that it has his confession.

Ethel Le Neve has booked passage on the steamship Majestic, which sails from Southampton for New York tomorrow.

Son Unconcerned.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 22. Local interest in the Crippen case was accentuated by the fact that Los Angeles was the home of the father and son of Dr. H. H. Crippen.

The attitude of the two towards the condemned man was so opposite as to

C. & S. ENGINEERS STRONG FOR STRIKE

DENVER, Nov. 22.—The Times today says:

Colorado and Southern officials have been advised that a vote being taken by engineers on the question of striking if the company fails to grant an increase in pay, is practically unanimous in favor of the strike. The vote is being taken on 61 western railroads and is the result of the failure of the men and the railroad managers to get together in Chicago early this month.

DIAZ GOVERNMENT

orders that no firearms or ammunition of any kind will be allowed to pass from the United States into Lower California.

According to the reports, which reached this city this morning from Tia Juana, revolvers and rifles by the score have been carted into the interior of Lower California during the last few days.

In order to see that this latest order is carried out to the letter an extra large force of line riders have been put on and the customs officials have been strengthened in numbers by the appointment of extra men.

According to a statement made by a Mexican official who arrived in San Diego today, the feeling against the Americans which has been displayed in the City of Mexico and other points of central and southeastern Mexico is beginning to show itself in Tia Juana.

"The Lower California government has had secret service men operating in San Diego and other American cities," he said this morning, "and we have found that great quantities of revolvers, rifles and ammunition have been sent to Mexico during the last few days. This seems to indicate that there are some persons in Lower California who are looking for trouble. We mean to stop it."

Casas Grandes Menaced.

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 22.—It is reported from reliable sources that a train of state rurales are embarking at Chihuahua at this hour (8 p. m.), and will come to some point north. The train is carrying horses and provisions. The belief is that the men will disembark at Villa Ahumada and go west rapidly to Casas Grandes to try and prevent a reported move by revolutionists from Mexico Northwestern construction camps getting possession of railroad property there. The rurales should reach Casas Grandes by 4 o'clock tomorrow evening. Casas Grandes is the headquarters for the construction of the Mexico Northwestern to Madera, and large stores of provisions are on hand.

Felix Barrenas, jefe politico of Casas Grandes, Chihuahua, telegraphed Governor Sanchez at Chihuahua this morning, asking for troops saying he had reliable information that Mexico Northwestern railroad laborers would march on Casas Grandes tonight and take possession, loot the stores of arms and provisions, preparatory to marching on the big mining camp of Corralitos, where large stores of provisions are carried.

It is believed this move is intended to get possession of engine and cars to start an expedition against Ciudad Juarez from the south. There are several large Mormon colonies immediately west of Casas Grandes and these people are all well armed.

Train Passengers Killed.

EL PASO, Nov. 22.—A passenger train on the Mexican Northwestern railroad, running between Chihuahua and Madera, was fired into last night and several second-class passengers killed. The number, names and details could not be secured, as the telegraph wires have all been cut, and a telephone line through the mountains is the only avenue of information.

Fighting has taken place at Madera, San Andres and Temosachi, along the railroad. Only meager details have reached here.

EL PASO, Nov. 22.—An order was issued today by the Mexican postal officials to refuse admittance to all American newspapers containing reference to the Mexican revolution. The postal officers at Juarez received the order this afternoon and announced that no newspapers would be accepted for transmission into the interior.

Whole Country in Arms.

EL PASO, Nov. 22.—A. G. Sprenger, a New York traveling man, arrived here this morning direct from the scenes of disorder around Torreon. In an interview, Mr. Sprenger said:

"The whole country is in arms, and in many places a state of terror prevails. I was in Monterey Sunday. The troops were in full control and everything was quiet. At the station I saw 20 men, each carrying a rifle, get off a train. The police and rurales immediately surrounded them but I do not know the outcome as the train pulled out immediately.

"I reached Torreon Monday and found Gomez Palacio in the hands of revolutionists. Everything was closed at Torreon, banks, stores and saloons, and business was at a standstill. A mining engineer and myself visited Gomez Palacio on a train car and we saw dead bodies lying about the streets, and were told that a battle had taken place between the revolutionists and the rurales. It was said that 200 soldiers had deserted and joined the insurgents. There was fighting around the palace for several hours, and we saw some of it. The chief of police was shot dead.

"The rurales fought desperately, and were better armed and drilled than the revolutionists. They fought behind piles of railroad ties, and finally forced the mob to flee to the hills.

"It was impossible to send a telegram, buy a paper or get anything to eat at Torreon. We heard rumors of battles at other places, especially at Parral, where it was reported that 67 persons had been killed. The rumors piled up on each other so fast that it was impossible to verify anything. I took the first train for the border, glad to get out of the danger zone."

Fighting at Cuatro Cienegas.

EAGLE PASS, Tex., Nov. 22.—At 6 o'clock tonight it was said by one of the highest officials and one who by virtue of his position is in close touch with the revolutionary movement in Mexico, that fighting is now going on in Cuatro Cienegas, a large and prosperous city below Monclova.

This is the home of J. Carranza, brother of the candidate for governor of Coahuila, in opposition to the administration candidate, and is a stronghold of the anti-Diaz people.

This same authority, whose position prohibits his name being quoted, says the situation in Mexico is more serious than at any other time for several years. He declares the excitement on the border is nothing compared to what it would be if all were known of the situation in the interior. He says that the officials and citizens of Ciudad Porfirio Diaz are expecting the very worst at any time. They are scouting the surrounding country, not for revolutionists but for their friends and relatives, and bringing them into the city, some for protection, but more for the purpose of arming and assisting in the defense of Ciudad Porfirio Diaz. Local merchants and citizens generally are armed and used as patrols. The town is under absolute military control and all commeunication with this side is prohibited after dark.

The passenger train from the south, which is supposed to have left Torreon yesterday afternoon, has not arrived in Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, though it was due there at 11 o'clock this morning, and officials say they do not know where the train is.

The railway wires are not working. Residents of Eagle Pass who have relatives in Torreon and other points down the Mexican International line, have not been able to get word from them for three days.

Troop L, Third United States cavalry, under command of Lieutenant Bristol, arrived in Eagle Pass at 6 o'clock this afternoon and is unloading at this writing.

Says Diaz is Doomed.

A high Mexican official said today that in his opinion the Diaz regime was over. In their efforts to secure more help in Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, one American in business there was required to report for duty and help, a land patrol. Upon explaining that he was not a citizen of Mexico the request was withdrawn.

Despite all efforts being made to capture revolutionists, beyond bringing in a Mexican or two occasionally and lodging them in jail, the disturbers manage to escape.

Another Mexican troop has just been ordered to Cuatro Cienegas.

West Livaudais, a New Orleans business man, who arrived from Torreon, confirms the report of a clash between federal soldiers and revolutionists. The government forces apparently were beaten and the rebels invested Gomez Palacio and Lerdo. When he left Torreon the rebels had not advanced on that town but were momentarily expected.

"The rebels at 3 o'clock Monday morning," said Livaudais, "shot down the police at Gomez Palacio. The garrison was sent against them and many reported killed. The soldiers were forced to fall back, and when I left Torreon a large force from there had been sent to retake the town. Torreon is practically under martial law and everything is shut tight."

Americans Safe.

Americans will not be harmed, says Mr. Livaudais, and foreign investments will be protected. Train service may be interrupted, he said. He confirmed the report that a bridge had been burned on the Mexican International railroad near Loma, 22 kilometers west of Torreon.

Rebels Doomed Says Wilson.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22. That the revolutionists in Mexico are doomed to defeat is the opinion of Henry Lane Wilson, the American ambassador in the Mexican capital.

From that vantage point, with access to the reports received by the Mexican government from its military commanders and civil governors, and with his private advices from the American consular offices at points where disturbances have occurred, Mr Wilson has reached this conclusion.

Large Area Quiet.

LAREDO, Tex., Nov. 22. From a source considered thoroughly reliable it was learned tonight that everything is quiet throughout north central Mexico. The territory embraced represents the district lying between Saltillo, capital of the state of Coahuila, and Nuevo Laredo, on the lines of the National railways of Mexico and the territory between Victor on the Tampico line and west to Torreon.

Many rumors are current which it is impossible to substantiate, that minor uprisings have occurred at various points, among others mentioned being Gomez Palacio and Torreon, where trouble broke out yesterday and which is probably identical with the rumored disturbances of today.

Minor encounters also are said to have taken place at Las Vacas and at Monclova, the latter being the division headquarters of the Mexican International railway which runs from Monterey to Torreon and Ciudad Porfirio Diaz.

Everything is quiet in Saltillo, according to advices. It is said a leading American went to Gov. Jesus Valle of the state of Coahuila, at Saltillo, and asked regarding the safety of Americans. The governor assured him that Americans were perfectly safe in Saltillo; he said he had put on an extra force of 50 policemen and had given them explicit instructions to protect the Americans and American property at all hazards and in the event of any effort on the part of a mob to molest the American residents of the city to shoot to kill.

Laborers Leave for Mexico.

HUTCHINSON, Kan., Nov. 22.—Thirty Mexican laborers left here today for Juarez, Mexico. Mexicans who have been working on railroad gangs in Hutchinson and vicinity are quitting their jobs and starting for their native country, determined, interpreters explain, to enlist in the revolutionary cause. Officers are investigating the rumor that a recruiting office has been opened here.

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 22.—It is reported here this morning that revolutionists attacked the town of Parral in the state of Chihuahua at 4 a. m. this morning and were repulsed with a loss of 15 men.

Three rurales are said to be badly wounded.

The town is poorly garrisoned and is bound to fall unless reinforcements arrive soon.

The revolutionists were reported surrounding the city and a battle was expected at daybreak.

According to advices received this morning San Antonio, San Andres, Torreon ranch, Minaca, Encinillas, Guerrero and surrounding country in the state of Chihuahua was taken by revolutionists last night. The revolutionists confiscated all stores, military equipment and surrounded all cattle and horses. Chihuahua is under martial law.

Two train loads of federal troops reached Chihuahau this morning.

Passengers arriving here this morning report skirmishes around Chihuahua with a number killed and wounded. Parral is cut off from communication with the outside world. Rumors emanating from Jiminez indicate that the situation there is desperate with similar conditions prevailing at Durango and Parral.

Railroad Captured.

The Parral and Durango railroad is reported captured by the revolutionists who are said to be occupying a commanding position on El Cerro hill, an eminence that divides the city of Parral into two parts. The town proper is still in the hands of the federal troops but it is expected that the revolutionists will storm the city at daybreak.

All wires are down south of Jiminez.

Passengers arriving this morning from Mexico report a terrible condition in that country. The train was loaded with American refugees and Americans are leaving the country as fast as possible. The refugees report Parral, state of Chihuahua, in the hands of the revolutionists with the wires cut and the mayor and chief of police dead. How many others had been killed, the refugees did not know.

Troops Join Rebels.

Troops being sent from Chihuahua to Parral left the train at Jiminez, the junction point, and refused to go further. Jiminez was captured by the rebels Monday after a fight in which 15 of their number and seven rurales were killed.

Mexican officials permitted Americans to retain their arms to protect themselves. Passengers say the Mexican government is placing little reliance on the army, as half of it is made up of petty criminals and convicts sentenced to a term in the army instead of prison.

Most of these are known to be in sympathy with the revolutionary movement and many officers who have been offered promotion by Francisco Madero, are suspected of being ready to join him.

Passengers declare that Madero, headquarters of the F. S. Pearson lumber interests in Chihuahua, is in the hands of the revolutionists. A hundred and sixty troops were sent there from Chihuahua, but 35 deserted enroute and the remainder joined the rebels upon their arrival, according to reports heard by the passengers.

Capture Three Towns.

EAGLE PASS, Tex., Nov. 22.—The Mexican revolutionists have captured the three towns in the rich Nazas river valley, Gomez Palacio, Lerdo and Torreon. The death toll is reported heavy at Torreon where 1,000 revolutionists armed with modern long range guns swept the city a terrific fire for several hours. No Americans are reported killed.

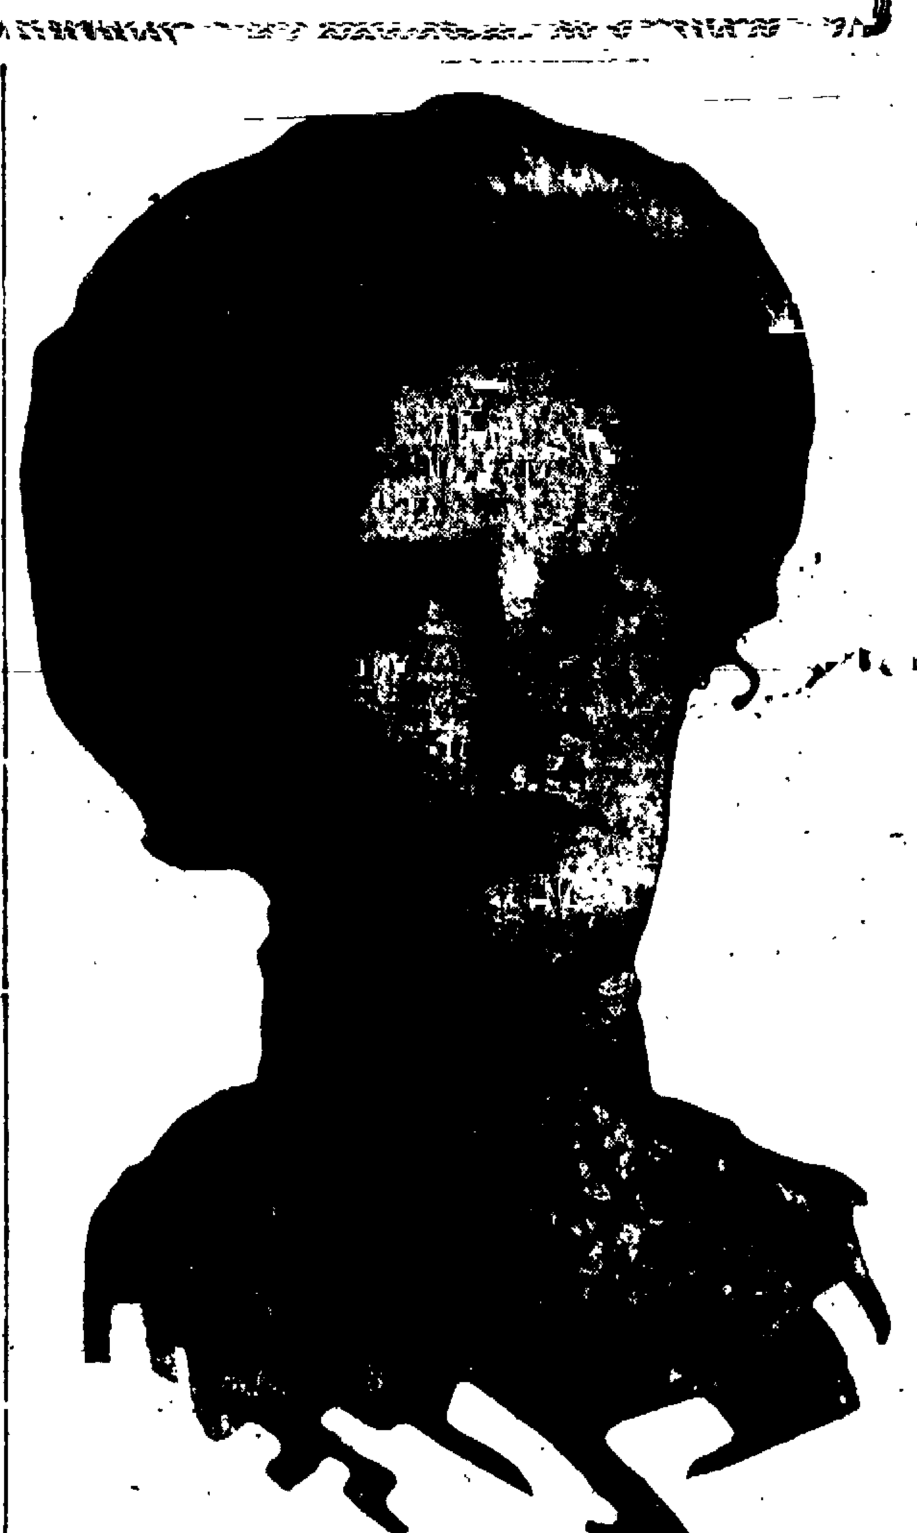

The federal garrison at Torreon surrendered, it is reported, only after their numbers have been depleted by more than one half in dead and injured. At Torreon is a colony of perhaps 150 Americans and many millions of American capital are invested there. After the garrison of nearly 300 federal troops at Gomez Palacio went over to the revolutionists yesterday, a fast march was made to Torreon at least 1,000 well armed men composing the attacking body.

The artillery was soon placed in position on a hill overlooking the city and the guns opened up. It is said that as soon as the garrison ran up the white flag the cavalry and infantry dashed into the city, took charge of all stores and public funds and new municipal officers were named.

Gen. Geronimo Travino at the head of two regiments of cavalry and infantry left Monterey last night for Torreon and fierce fighting is expected in that city when they arrive.

Francisco Madero, leader of the anti-re-electionists was reported to be in [illegible] with about 800 cavalry to join the revolutionary forces at Torreon. Fighting in the city of Durango last night and early this morning was reported, but no details were received.

EAGLE PASS, Tex., Nov. 22.—Velardena, one of the biggest mining camps in Mexico where a smelter of the American Smelting and Refining company is located, is reported in the possession of the revolutionists. It is said the smelting plant was damaged and many Americans were roughly treated.

Mrs. John O. Schenk, wife of the millionaire pork packer of Wheeling, W. Va., whom she is accused of attemping to kill by putting arsenic in his food and drinking water. She has been arrested and placed in jail pending the outcome of Mr. Schenk's illness. He was taken to the Wheeling hospital two weeks ago, and is in a critical condition. It is said that Mrs. Schenk lavished money and jewels on a twenty-dollar-a-week piano salesman, and that a desire to marry her lover prompted her to poison her husband. She denies the charges, however.

Mrs. Emeline Pankhurst, leader of the suffragettes, was among those taken to jail. Her sister, Mrs. Grant [illegible] admittance threw a missile through the jail window. She was also incarcerated. Miss Grace Johnson was the only American arrested. Miss Annie Martin of Nevada, who was taken to the police station on Friday and was released, was not among those arrested tonight.

Mr. Churchill addressed a big meeting this evening from which several men, adherents of the women's cause, were dragged out by the police. Transmississippi Congress Scene of Exposition Battle

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 22.—The struggle to obtain the Panama canal exposition was transferred this afternoon to the convention of the Transmississippi Commercial congress in session in this city. Gov. Jared Y. Sanders of Louisiana urged the advantages of New Orleans, and Frank H. Gould, speaker of the California house of representatives, spoke in behalf of San Francisco.

Governor Sanders insisted that New Orleans is the logical point, while Mr. Gould pointed out that San Francisco has $17,500,000 to expend on it and is asking no aid from Congress. The reception each speaker received indicated that the congress is divided on the subject of lending its indorsement.

Arthur F. Francis, secretary of the congress, read his annual report, which was adopted.

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 22.—While descending from a 500-foot flight this afternoon, Aviator J. A. D. McCurdy, one of the men flying in the Register aviation meet, dipped too near the earth, one of the wing shields striking the ground when going at a high rate of speed and turning the machine over.

The crowds rushed to the end of the field in which the accident happened, but found McCurdy walking about, smiling and uninjured. The aeroplane was badly damaged, although, it fell but a matter of 10 or 15 feet.

LABOR RECOGNIZED IN ARIZONA CONSTITUTION

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 22.—Matters relating to the educational system of Arizona, and affecting labor, occupied the attention of delegates to the constitutional convention today. A number of provisions which will benefit labor were adopted. Foremost among these are the compulsory compensation measure, and that prohibiting and nullifying any contract signed by an employe releasing a corporation from liability or responsibility for injury or death. There was also adopted a proposition for an employers' liability provision abrogating the common law of the "fellow servant" doctrine, and removing the limit for damages in case of injury or death, and the Kinney antialien labor measure, in amended form.

Simple as Was His Life Is Tolstoi's Burial Ceremony

TULA, Russia, Nov. 22.—Just before sunset the casket was carried to the grave about which the family and close friends of Tolstoi knelt. The choirs sang the hymn, "Everlasting Memory," but there was no other ceremony. The casket was lowered into the ground and the filling-in proceeded at once.

Throughout the night and during the early hours of today special trains arrived at Zaseika, the railway station near Yasnaya Poliani estate, bearing delegations to the funeral of Count Leo Tolstoi. Students from Moscow occupied twenty-three coaches.

Following Tolstoi's written request his grave has been made under "poverty oak" in the spot where in childhood we buried a green rocking horse."

This reference was to an episode in the early life of Tolstoi and his brothers, who with childish rites consigned to the earth a hobby horse in the belief that when it was disinterred a reign of happiness would be inaugurated.

No Church Rites.

The novelist often referred to the disposition of his body and in directions specified explicitly that the ceremony incident thereto should be of the simplest without the rites of the orthodox church.

The special train bringing the body from Astapova arrived at the Zaseika station this morning. The funeral party was met by throngs of mourning peasants who since daylight had been wending their way thither from the surroundings country side.

According to the Russian custom, Tolstoi's sons were the bearers and carried the casket on their shoulders over the two miles separating the station from the novelist's home at Yasnaya Poliani.

The route was across gently sloping fields and through the wooded park of the estate to the house.

Way Lined With Mourners.

The way was lined with mourners. Peasants marched at the head of the procession carrying white banners inscribed "Lev Nikolaievitch, the memory of your goodness will never fade from the minds of us orphaned peasants." Following the peasants were student choirs chanting memorial hymns and four carriages filled with wreaths. Then came the sons trudging slowly under the weight of the casket. The countess and others of the family followed the bier afoot.

Lies in Favorite Room.

Arrived at the house, the casket was borne within and placed on a catafalque, erected in the author's favorite room.

This had been emptied of its furniture and was barren, except for the novelist's bookcase, portrait of Tolstoi's brother and a bust of Buddha.

Here in the old home from which Tolstoi fled 12 years ago to seek solitude that was to be denied him, the body lay in state. The public was freely admitted to the room and for several hours an unbroken line of peasant folk and others of less humble circumstances passed reverently before the bier.

The interment, on a hill in a forest wood, was deferred till late in the afternoon.

60 Per Cent of Colorado School Boys Over 12 Use Tobacco, Educators Assert

DENVER, Nov. 22.—Sixty per cent of the male children of Colorado over 12 years of age are addicted to tobacco in some form, according to the report of the physical welfare committee of the Colorado Teachers association which is meeting in annual convention here. The report was made at today's session.

Drug and cigar stores throughout the state, the report pointed out, sell tobacco indiscriminately to children and the report states that many cases are known where saloonkeepers have sold liquor to children still in their 'teens. The report also carried a form for a resolution advising principals and superintendents to prosecute all such offenders, offering them moral and financial support.

The physical welfare committee's report condemns lack of proper sanitation of many schools in the small districts.

The committee went on record today as favoring more comprehensive recognition of the importance of manual training in the schools of the state.

Professor J. B. Garvin of the East Denver High school, speaking on the subject, "My Boy and the Newspaper," scored "yellow" journalism unmercifully. Denver newspapers were described as "notorious scandal mongers of the lowest type."

"The whole tendency of yellow journalism," said Professor Garvin, "is toward the disintegration of the home and the weaning of the youth from the higher and more altruistic motive of life. Daily recital of crime and brutality emphasizes the survival of the brute instinct and the predominance of selfishness and hatred. It is not overstating it to say that every conspicuous crime reported in detail in these newspapers begets ideas of like nature in innumerable minds, and the seeds thus planted bear similar fruit in their mind."

STOCK PROMOTERS DO NOT TRY TO GET BAIL

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—Shelton C. Burr, Eugene H. Burr and Frank H. Tobey, officers of Burr Brothers, stock promoters, were still in the Tombs tonight. Their operations netted them millions, according to Postmaster General Hitchcock, but no application for bail has been made since their arrest yesterday on a charge of using the mails to defraud.

Mr. Hitchcock, who personally engineered the raid on the concern yesterday, is still in New York, arranging for speedy prosecution of the cases. He said he had received a flood of congratulatory messages for the action he had taken and a flood of complaints from persons who say they have been victimized.

GRAND MEMORIAL TO LINCOLN IS PROPOSED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 22.—Senator Shelby M. Cullom, one of the few surviving contemporaries of Abraham Lincoln in public life, proposes to set the wheels in motion the coming winter for a memorial to the great Civil war President that will be the grandest any nation in the world has provided for one of its heroes. It is proposed that the memorial, to be erected in the capital city, shall be far more imposing than that to General Grant, now nearing completion. Senator Cullom wants to live to see the Lincoln memorial movement launched and its completion assured.

A bill appropriating money for the site and the memorial itself will be introduced by the Illinois senator soon after Congress reconvenes, and it is his purpose to push it to passage before the close of the session.

cause of [illegible]. Myron Crippen, more than 80 years old, believing implicitly in the innocence of the physician, was so deeply grieved that he died last Friday of a broken heart. Up to the time of his death, he would freely speak of his son and with pride related how he overcame obstacles in order to attain a medical education. Dr. Crippen's early education was received in California. The father died practically friendless and penniless, and his support has been the son who, up to the time of becoming a fugitive from justice, furnished him with what money he needed.

Young Crippen, who is in the employ of a telephone company, however, has from the first refused to discuss the affairs of his father. In fact he expressed himself as but little interested in the case. This he explained by the fact that he did not know his father. The mother died when he was still a baby which led to his being left to the care of others and the father and son were thus separated.

Story of Crime.

The execution of Dr. Hawley Harvey Crippen in London today, completed the criminal records of one of the most sensational of recent murder cases.

The brutality of the crime committed by a man who had been known as of a gentle and kindly nature, the murderer's spectacular flight to his native land, and the fact that the case against the doctor was purely circumstantial, combined to make the tragedy of absorbing interest not only in England where the murder was committed, but as well in America, where both Crippen and his wife were born.

Crippen, slight in figure, was just past 50 years old. He was born in Michigan, and, after studying medicine, practiced in the United States and Canada. In 1906 he married Cora Mackamotski of Brooklyn, a vaudeville actress, whose stage name was Belle Elmore. They removed to London, where the doctor engaged in dental manufacture.

Soon there was domestic infelicity, due, Crippen alleged, to the attentions his wife received from other men. Then Clara Le Neve, a prepossessing woman, 27 years old, entered Crippen's employ as a typist. She sympathised with the doctor, and the two fell in love. Meantime, Crippen and his wife were estranged.

Suspicion Aroused.

Nearly a year ago Miss Le Neve, feeling her position keenly, became impatient with the situation. About the same time the doctor was in need of money. Mrs. Crippen disappeared suddenly last February. Her husband inserted a death notice in the papers saying she had succumbed to an illness while visiting in California.

Actress friends of Mrs. Crippen persuaded Scotland Yard to make an investigation and the police officers interviewed Crippen on July 12.

He threw the police off the scent, but on the following day fled from London in company with Miss Le Neve, who was disguised as a boy.

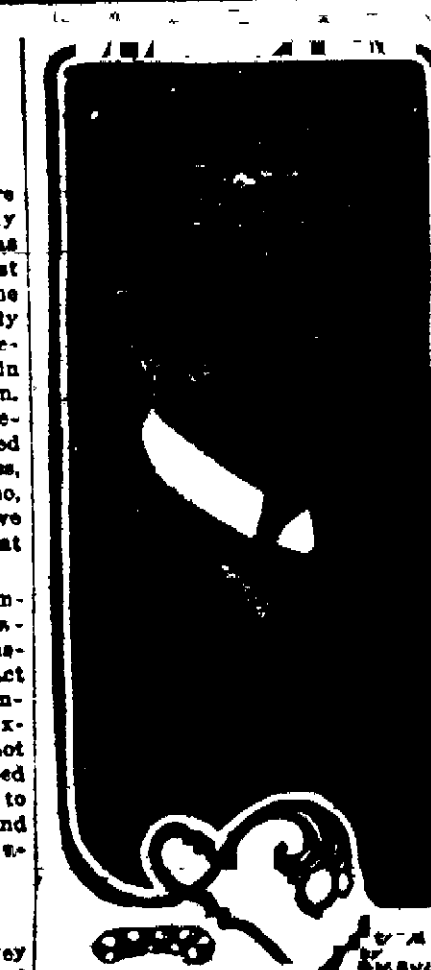

Subsequently their presence on board the steamer Montrose was known to Scotland Yard through wireless messages and as the Montrose was approaching Quebec, Crippen and Miss Le Neve were arrested. This was on July 31.

In the meantime the police had visited the Crippen home in Hilldrop Crescent, and in the cellar [illegible] parts of a woman's body. The [illegible] ical experts who [illegible] were never able [illegible] to prove that they were from the body of Belle Elmore. Nevertheless the jury that heard the Crippen [illegible] that they [illegible]

He was sentenced to be hanged on November 8, but secured a stay of execution until today. An appeal on his behalf was denied by the criminal court of appeals, and a petition for a reprieve was rejected by Home Secretary Churchill.

Miss Le Neve was indicted and charged as an accessory after the fact, but was acquitted.

The largest single telephone exchange in the world is said to be in [illegible]

BANQUET OF GOVERNORS

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The board of governors of the National Democratic club will give a complimentary dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria on December 15, to six Democratic governors-elect. John A. Dix of this state and Eugene N. Foss, of Massachusetts have already signified their acceptance of the invitations to be sent out. Judson Harmon of Ohio, who was re-elected, also has practically accepted the invitation. Governors-elect Baldwin of Connecticut, Wilson of New Jersey and Plaisted of Maine, are yet to be heard from.

The dinner will be given in the big banquet hall, which accommodates nearly 650 diners, and it is expected that the demand for seats from club members will far exceed the supply. Ex-Senator John Fox, president of the club, will be toastmaster. All the talking will be done by the six guests.

XMAS PRESENTS BARRED

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 22.—Mayor Darius Brown has issued an order that employes in all departments of the city government will not be permitted to give Christmas presents to their superiors. He says the practice has been for employes in departments to give expensive presents to which all clerks subscribed. A degree of compulsion obtained, he said, in that all felt it necessary to curry favor by their contributions. Mayor Brown insists that the only proper method of gaining favor from superiors should be faithful service for the city, and there will be no presents this year.

IMPRISONMENT FOR DEBT

From the Dundee Advertiser.

It is now over 50 years since the power of imprisoning a debtor for life was taken from the creditor, and it fills one with amazement to think that a system so ridiculous should have continued as long as it did. The three principal debtors' prisons in England were the King's Bench, the Marshalsea and the Borough Compter. In the year 1759 there were 20,000 prisoners for debt in Great Britain and Ireland. The futility of the system was quite as great as its barity. More than half the prisoners in some of the prisons were kept theresolely because they could not pay the attorney's costs. Many prisoners had their wives and children with them. There was no infirmary, no resident surgeon and no bath. Imainge a place in these days containing 1[illegible] persons and no bath and no infirmary! We have indeed "progressed."

What the Press Agents Say

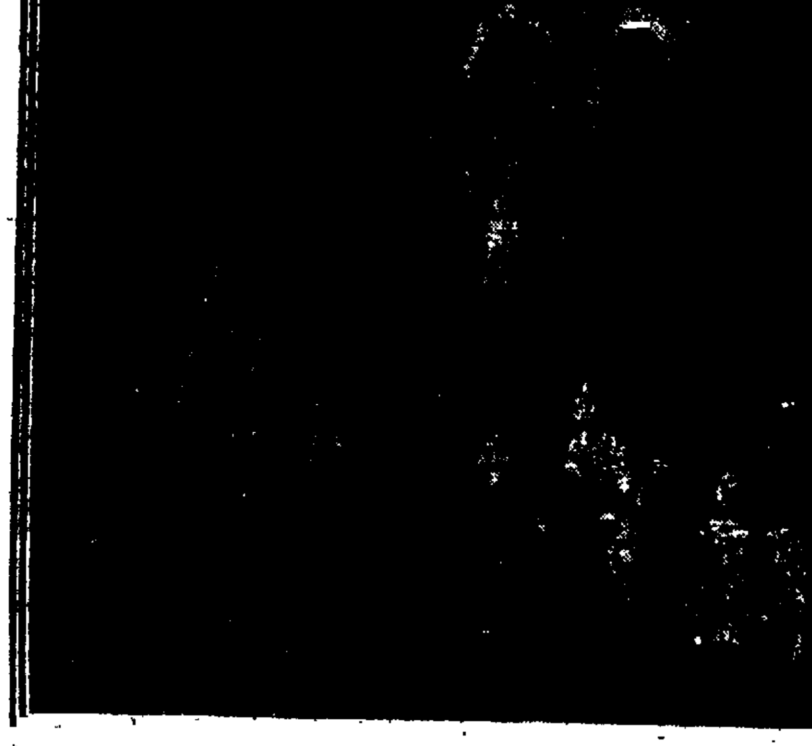

"POLLY OF THE CIRCUS"

An event of the theatrical season will be "Polly of the Circus," Frederic Thompson's magnificent production to be seen at the Opera House tomorrow night.

Margaret Mayo's wholesome and simple story is one of the most delightful plays of recent years. It would be a dificult task to imagine a prettier scene than that with which the first act of "Polly" closes. It is there that the young girl of the circus world gets her first insight into things that are higher and better, when, as she first regains consciousness and realizes her helplessness the minister reads to her, at her request, those memorable lines from the Book of Ruth: "Entreat me not to leave thee or to return from following after thee; for whither thou goest, I will go; and where thou lodgest, I will lodge. Thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God."

The curtain falls, and the real story is begun. Pathos is mingled through the play with no less excellent humor than Polly's slang, when she first converses with the minister about his people. She calls him a "sky pilot," and, talking of her business as compared with his ministerial duties says: "One year you give 'em the rottenest kind of a show and they eat it up; the next year you give 'em a 'knockout' and it's a frost. Those are but random samples.

The circus scenes of the third act are revelations of stagecraft. It's all there, the rings, the horses, the clowns, and everything and everybody else. The setting of the last scene of the third act is as wonderful as it is beautiful. The circus trains and wagons winding a-ay up the pathways while Polly once more and forever behind and with the man after her own heart. Taken all in all "Polly of the Circus" offers more pure and wholesome entertainment than any play has had in a long time, hence its success.

"THE CLIMAX"

"The Climax" is the striking title of the very striking novel play that left such an excellent impression in this city last season. Those who enjoyed the splendid entertainment will be delighted to learn that "The Climax" again will be seen at the Opera House, Saturday night only.

The story of the melody-drama as "The Climax" is frequently called, has to do with a young girl, Adelina von Hagen, studying for grand opera. Her music master, Luigi Golfanti, predicts for her as great a career as that enjoyed by her celebrated namesake, Adelina Patti, if a certain cloudiness of tone in the middle register may be removed from her voice through an operation. Her sweetheart, Dr. Raymond, who does not want her to adopt a theatrical career, believing that such a public life is not a good one for a woman, has a friend perform the operation, but he tells Adelina that there is just one chance in ten that she may never sing again. Carefully and well does he impress upon the nervous and ambitious young woman that one chance against her, with the result that when she attempts to sing, after a period of two weeks absolute silence her voice fails her and she finds that her ambitions are in vain. She contemplates suicide, but her dear old master saves her from herself. Young Pietro, the master's son, loves Adelina also, and she has inspired him to compose a beautiful song, which she was to have made famous for him. Six months go by and Adelina, reconciled to a domestic life instead of one before the footlights, is about to marry the doctor when suddenly she finds that she can sing and sing better than ever. Her master and Pietro are delighted, but not so her fiance, who realizes that she has come out from under the spell in which he had placed her. He tells her the truth as to the way in which he played upon her fear of losing her voice, and she sends him away. She will go on the stage she [illegible] he will praise to him that the stage and a public [illegible] bad for a woman, but as the curtain descends one feels that while Adelina will have her way and will win success, she will yet marry the young doctor who has loved her from youth.

The story is told with so many touches and such a happy blending of pathos and comedy that it is altogether delightful. During the course of the play Pietro plays on the piano his composition and also the accompaniments for Adelina, who sings airs from grand opera. It is truly a wonderful blend of music and drama. Nothing like it has ever before been attempted on the dramatic stage.

"THE COW AND THE MOON"

Florence Willis, who appeared here on previous occasions in the support of that inimitable comedian, Charles A. Sellon, in "The Cat and the Fiddle," will again be with Mr. Sellon in his latest vehicle, "The Cow and the Moon," which is one of the newest successes in the line of musical extravaganza. Miss Willis, dainty and sweet, has always been selected to play the Good Fairy Genii, who with her wonderful powers of magic has guided the earth beings safely over their trials against the immortals in these fantastic mythical plays. The little lady has gained a foothold with our theatergoers, and, in the new play, will surprise her many audiences in these characters, first as the Genii, and second as a fiery, dashing Cuban girl, which gives her plenty of opportunity to display her dramatic talent as well as sing a rousing good song number "In Sevilla," which is one of the song hits of the performance. It was hardly expected that an actress who had always played quiet fairy parts could, as they say in theatricals, "make good" in this Cuban part, but only goes to show the versatility Miss Willis possesses. Opportunity and a good part will make an actress show to advantage, and in Miss Willis' case she is said to be more than making good.

There are 40 other personages, including a large beauty chorus, and with 16 musical numbers, numerous scenic changes and mystifying tricks there is enough to satisfy the most exacting theatergoer.

"The Cow and the Moon" will play at the Opera House, Monday night only.

RESERVE YOUR SEATS EARLY FOR MAJESTIC ON THANKSGIVING DAY

People who are looking forward to attending the Majestic at one of the Thanksgiving day performances as a part of their enjoyment of turkey day, would do well to visit or phone the box office in advance and make their reservations. Otherwise they are liable to be disappointed by inability to secure good seats, if not, for that matter, any at all. The special Thanksgiving week offering is proving immensely popular and the attendance at every performance, as well as the advance demand already for seats Thursday indicates that the S. R. O. sign is going to be called into requisition at all three performances that day.

For the benefit of those who have not seen this show and have not been told about it by someone who has, it might be well worth while to add that if they want to round out their enjoyment of the holiday in the most delightful manner imaginable the thing to do is to see this Majestic offering. It is full of holiday spirit—nothing heavy or depressing, everything cheerful and entertaining and is just the kind of a mental dessert to follow the traditional epicurean feast of the occasion.

There are three musical and comedy acts, in all of which the music, both vocal and instrumental, is delightful; one instrumental act of a rollicking sort; one gymnastic act which is a very poem of grace and motion; two comedy motion pictures and a snappy orchestra program. You want to see it Thursday. Performances at 2, 7:30 and 9:10 p. m. Admission 10, 20 and 30 cents; loges, 50 cents.

WHITNEY BROTHERS.

An eastern critic has said of the Whitney Brothers: "It is rare to find in one family four gifted brothers; rarer to find four possessing the same gift; rarer yet to find four brothers with voices so attuned that they can assume the several parts in a quartet; rarest of all to find four whose esprit de corps, close sympathy and magnificent 'team work' enable them to give a program of such beauty, harmony, symmetry, balance and high appeal as that of the Whitney Brothers. One of the brothers is an accompanist of distinction; another is one of the best readers upon the concert platform. The Whitneys compel laughter or tears at will, delight the ear, warm the heart, in an evening that is unique, artistic, complete. Their program is most popular. It abounds in mirth, and yet all that these brothers do is invested in an atmosphere of refinement, dignity and beauty."

The Whitney Brothers appear in the Star course, Y. M. C. A. Course tickets on sale November 28, at Y. M. C. A. Six numbers for $2.25.

DRAMATIST IS IN CITY TO MAKE CHANGES IN COMEDY

Miss Charlotte Thompson, author of "In Search of a Sinner," which Lillian Russell presented at the Opera House last night, and also part author of "The Strength of the Weak," a problem play in which Florence Roberts starred a few seasons ago, was in the city yesterday looking over her comedy at the performance given at the Opera House last night. Miss Thompson is considering some changes to be made in the piece, prior to its performance in San Francisco next week. For the engagement in that city plans are being made to introduce into the first act of the comedy a cafe scene, a real band and a large number of extra people. In addition to this innovation it is possible that Miss Thompson will make some minor changes in other parts of the comedy, in view to its premier in New York early in the new year.

Small pieces of raw potato in a little water shaken vigorously inside bottles and lamp chimneys will clean them admirably.

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indelicate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.

LET YOUR STOMACH HAVE ITS OWN WAY.

Do Not Try to Drive and Force It to Work When It Is Not Able or You Will Suffer All the More.

You cannot treat your stomach as some men treat a balky horse; force, drive or even starve it into doing work at which it rebels. The stomach is a patient and faithful servant and will stand much abuse and ill-treatment before it "balks," but when it does you had better go slow with it and not attempt to make it work. Some people have the mistaken idea that they can make their stomach work by starving themselves. They might cure the stomach that way, but it would take so long that they would have no use for a stomach when they got through. The sensible way out of the difficulty is to let the stomach rest if it wants to and employ a substitute to do its work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do the work of your stomach for you and digest your food just as your stomach used to when it was well. You can prove this by putting your food in a glass jar with one of the tablets and sufficient water and you will see the food digested in just the same time as the digestive fluids of the stomach would do it. That will satisfy your mind. Now, to satisfy both your mind and body take one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after eating, eat all and what you want—and you will feel in your mind that your food is being digested because you will feel no disturbance or weight in your stomach; in fact, you will forget all about having a stomach, just as you did when you were a healthy boy or girl.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets act in a natural way because they contain only the natural elements of the gastric juices and other digestive fluids of the stomach. It makes no difference what condition the stomach is in, they go right ahead of their own accord and do their work. They know their business and surrounding conditions do not influence them in the least. They thus relieve the weak stomach of all its burdens and give it its much-needed rest and permit it to become strong and healthy.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box. They are so well known and their popularity is so great that a druggist would as soon think of being out of alcohol or quinine as of them. In fact, physicians are prescribing them all over the land and if your own doctor is real honest with you he will tell you frankly that there is nothing on earth so good for dyspepsia as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

"FINAL DRAINAGE OF DISTRICT ASSURED"

The final drainage of the entire Cripple Creek district is an absolute certainty, according to President Frank G. Peck of the tunnel company who says that the water area will be tapped within the next 200 feet, and whether the drainage is quick or slow, the object sought is assured.

"There may be a false impression as to the tapping of a distinct water course such as an underground river," said Mr. Peck, and, in fact, the tunnel may never cut into any such flow of water. Recently it passed through the phonolite and entered a zone of breccia or broken conglomerate composed of all kinds of rocks cemented together more or less firmly, but cut with seams and fissures. This is splendid drainage ground and if enough of this is tapped, good drainage will be secured whether a large open water course is tapped or not. But my opinion is that this zone of breccia is an upshoot between two walls of phonolite, and that within a very short distance the second wall of phonolite will be cut and the Blue Bird water course will be found on the other side.

5,000 Gallons a Minute.

"The tunnel ought to develop about 5,000 gallons a minute, and the drainage through the El Paso mine will probably be as great, so that a total flow of 10,000 gallons a minute will be secured. There is no question as to the success of the tunnel, and the only question is as to how long it will take the drainage to benefit the various properties in the district.

"According to a report received this morning, the water in the Mary McKinney mine had receded nearly a foot. This mine is at least 5,000 feet from the El Paso, and the tunnel is practically only started. The El Paso is holding its water at the seventh level to allow the clearing out of the drainage tunnel and the preparations to do the hoisting through the intermediate shaft. When the El Paso lets its water loose and drains out to the tenth level, important results may be looked for, as this will give a large vent for the drainage of the entire district."

BROOKS IN CHICAGO, BOOSTING FOR COLO

Among the lively boosters for Colorado at the National Live Stock show in Chicago is former Congressman Franklin E. Brooks of this city, who was instrumental in securing space for a special exhibit of Colorado fruit and farm produce.

Among other Coloradoans present are:

R. H. Wilsey of the Costilla Irrigated Lands company, L. Wirt Markham and D. H. Bane of Lamar, W. A. Colt of Las Animas, W. J. Thompson of Julesburg, W. A. Bozeman of Cortez and Jim Curran of Denver.

800 INVITATIONS BEING ISSUED TO BIG DINNER

Eight hundred letters will be sent out today and tomorrow from the Chamber of Commerce rooms to civic organizations, farmers, ranchers and citizens all over Colorado Springs and El Paso county, urging them to attend the big Dry Farming congress dinner and meeting at the Alamo hotel on the evening of November 29.

Secretary Henderson expects that most of those invited will be present, and he is making arrangements for one of the biggest and most important meetings of the year.

Societies and Clubs

Eldoralo council No. 1114, Royal Arcanum, will meet this evening in Caledonian hall.

The social science department of the Woman's club will meet this afternoon in the I. O. O. F. temple. Mrs. Jennie S. Boyd will give a paper on "The Colonisation of South Africa."

A special meeting of the Ladies of the G. A. R. will be held next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the hall, for inspection. The drill team will meet this afternoon with Mrs. Olmstead, 1206 South Cascade avenue.

The meeting of the Ensemble club, led by Hans Dressel of Denver, has been postponed for one week as the members prefer not to meet on Thanksgiving day.

The Woman's society of the First Presbyterian church will hold its annual praise service this evening at 7:30 o'clock at the church. The Rev. Samuel Semple will give the address, and Mrs. Sara E. Eldredge and Miss McCosky, who have returned from a European trip, will also speak. Pictures of the Passion play will be exhibited by Miss Murray. Mrs. John Speed Tucker will sing. A missionary tea of the society will be held December 9 with Mrs. A. G. Sharp, 1609 North Nevada avenue. The ladies of the First Congregational church will furnish the program and the Presbyterian ladies will serve refreshments.

Deaths and Funerals

The funeral of George E. Law, aged 75, will be held this morning at 11 o'clock from the undertaking rooms of Fairley & Law. Interment will be in Evergreen cemetery. Mr. Law was a corporal of Company A, Fourth regiment, Maryland Volunteer infantry, and all members of the G. A. R. are asked to attend the funeral.

The body of Miss Pearl Moore of Dublin, Tex., who died Monday night in Manitou, was yesterday taken to the former home by the parents.

An attachment for lawn mowers that will tear up moss in a lawn and give young grass a chance to grow is a recent invention.

THREE CHARITABLE ORGANIZATIONS TO JOIN IN GOOD WORK

Thanksgiving dinners for the poor will be distributed this afternoon by a joint committee of the Associated Charities, People's Mission and Salvation Army. The donations from the schools will be gathered this morning and other donations will be taken to the Salvation Army hall. The three charitable institutions have joined in this work to prevent the duplication of donations and to see that everybody gets a good turkey dinner. Volunteer workers to help distribute the dinners are asked by Agent Bruno of the Associated Charities.

The Salvation Army has offered the use of its hall, 12½ South Cascade avenue, for the use of those who wish to make up baskets for the poor.

About $100 is needed for this annual distribution, and so far only $30 has been given, counting in the merchandise. Agent Bruno, who will have charge of the distribution of the baskets, is anxious to receive further contributions.

One of the best features of the collection of the money this year is that by the system to be used, the school children and others are assured that their money goes for food for those who are really worthy.

SAYS LOCAL HOLDINGS IN MEXICO UNAFFECTED

Leonard E. Curtis, of Curtis and Hine, who have large interests in Mexico, does not believe that there is any danger to American property or lives in the zone in which the firm's companies have their holdings. In San Luis Potosi and Guanajuato, where their interests lie, the country is very peaceable. It is Mr. Curtis' impression that President Diaz will be able to take care of any uprisings which may spring up. He has always noticed the greatest expressions of good will towards the Americans engaged in the enterprises with which he is connected.

HENDERSON IS AFTER MEETINGS FOR CITY

In an effort to secure conventions for Colorado Springs, Secretary Henderson of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday wrote 25 or more letters to the secretaries of organizations of many different kinds, inviting them to visit this city or asking for information as to their plans for their next meeting. Many of the organizations are comparatively unimportant, but others will mean a great deal to this city if they are secured.

DOUTHWAITE IS DEPUTY COAL MINE INSPECTOR

James Dalrymple, state inspector of mines, yesterday appointed Harry Douthwaite of this city deputy state coal mine inspector. The appointment carries with it a salary of $2,000 per year, and $600 for expenses. Mr. Douthwaite has had practical mining experience for the last 20 years, and is well versed in mining conditions in the state. He will begin his duties at once. State deputies will assist the commission appointed by Governor Shafroth to investigate coal mine conditions in Colorado.

J. W. SCOTT IS MEMBER NOMINATING COMMITTEE

Principal J. W. Scott of the Lowell school, Colorado Springs, was yesterday made a member of the committee on nominations of the Colorado State Teachers association, now meeting in Denver. The election of officers will take place today, and it is believed that Miss Inez Johnson, superintendent of schools of El Paso county, has an excellent chance of being elected president of the association.

The other members of the nominating committee are: J. B. Ragan, Sterling; Pearl L. Moore, Fort Collins; Elizabeth Ellis, Denver; D. R. Hatch, Golden; C. E. Temple, Cheyenne Wells; J. F. Keating, Pueblo; C. I. Collins, Holly; D. C. Cagwin, Walsenburg; C. E. Hart, Monte Vista; A. J. Baker, Silverton; C. G. Sargent, Grand Junction; J. H. Adams, Aspen; L. B. Stevens, Fruita; Mary Decatur, Brighton; D. D. Hugh, Greeley; E. R. Jones, Lamar, and J. W. Ellison, Wheatridge.

PHELPS BAKERY HAS IMPROVEMENTS

The well-known Phelps bakery and dining room at 111 E. Bijou street have just completed extensive improvements in their bakery department. New equipment has been installed and the entire plant enlarged, thereby increasing the output and enabling them to handle the increasing volume of business.

Mr. Charles S. St. Clair has been placed in entire charge of the bakery department. Mr. St. Clair is an experienced and efficient baker, and has been manager for the Park bakery for the last several years.

INVITATIONS ISSUED

Joel Addison Hayes has issued invitations to the marriage of his daughter, Lucy White, to George Bowyer Young, Thursday evening, December 8, at 9 o'clock in St. Stephen's church. Admission to the church will be by card.

The Fraternal ... will give a masquerade ball at Caledonian hall, Thanksgiving evening. Prizes for the best costume. Admission, 50c.

CASE GOES TO JURY

Sealed Verdict Is Expected in the County Court in the Parish Will Contest.

Trial of the Gabriel J. Parish will contest was finished yesterday in the county court and a sealed verdict is to be handed in by the jury at 10 o'clock this morning, if a decision is reached.

The children of the blind and aged Palmer Lake man who died last June were bequeathed $100 each, according to the provisions of the will, which was admitted into the case yesterday afternoon by the court. Matilda Reeves, Parish's housekeeper is given houses and lots in Palmer Lake and $500, and others also share in the division of the estate, which is estimated at about $2,000.

Those contesting the will contend that it is not the last will and testament of Gabriel Parish, and that the document produced was signed with the mark of the blind man and witnessed only by those who are named as beneficiaries. Undue influence exercised over the old man by the Reeves woman is also charged.

CIVIC REPRESENTATIVES CONSIDER BUDGET TODAY

Members of the Merchants association and civic organizations who may have recommendations to make concerning the necessary cuts in the estimates of the city commissioners for appropriations for the coming year, will meet at the Alamo at noon today for the purpose of going over the estimates.

While the Mayor should have presented his budget on Monday, and was ready to do so, additional time was asked by the committee representing business interests, to go over the estimates and possibly suggest the best methods of reducing the amounts asked for, which, as has been pointed out, greatly exceed the sum that can be raised by the highest tax levy permitted under the charter. The results of today's meeting will be submitted to the Mayor, and, according to present plans, the budget will be presented at the Council meeting Friday.

ELKS TO GIVE DANCE FOR OZOZO WORKERS

The Elks lodge will give an old-time social and dance next Monday night for those who helped to make the Ozozo such a great success last spring. Many novel "stunts" will be arranged.

Willis L. Strachan is chairman of the committee which is making arrangements for the annual lodge of sorrow, to be held at the Opera House December 4, in memory of the departed brethren.

LIQUOR CASES ON

The police court trials of F. J. Webber and Sam Dawson of the Index club, and E. M. Harrison of the Industrial club, were begun yesterday and continued to this morning. Dawson, in the police raids of Monday night and early yesterday morning, was twice arrested on charges of having violated the local option law in the matter of handling liquor at his club.

If the cases are concluded today, those against Don C. Goddard of the Driving club and A. J. Norton of the Eureka club will also be tried today. The warrants against Goddard and Norton were sworn out by Dawson.

"MAKE WAY FOR LIBERTY"

From Everybody's Magazine.

A fond mamma had found occasion during the morning to reprimand her small daughter with more than usual severity. It seemed to hurt the child's feelings considerably. In the afternoon the little girl sat on the sofa staring vacantly out of the window, apparently wrapped in meditation. The mother relented and, coming over to the side of the little girl, placed her hand on the child's shoulder and asked. "What are you thinking about, dearie?"

"I 'uz jus' finkin,'" said the little girl, "if I want six or eight bridesmaids."

LILLIAN RUSSELL IS SEEN IN NEW PLAY

Lillian Russell presented Charlotte Thompson's three-act farce-comedy, "In Search of a Sinner," at the Opera House last night. Despite her present tendency towards fatness, Miss Russell is still a charming woman. Though her beauty has of late become more or less a living testimonial to the powers of the paint brush and rouge pot there is still a certain dainty, delicate and refined atmosphere about Miss Russell and her acting, and a pleasing self-possession, that only comes from long years of active service on the stage, that account for the star's continued popularity. Her success in light comedy is due to her natural grace, magnetism and some technical ability which she has gained by years of work, for Miss Russell is by no means a great comedienne or even an unusual actress.

"In Search of a Sinner" is based upon a rather novel idea. A widow, bored by the saintliness of her first husband, decides that her next spouse shall be a sinner. Of course, the end is readily foreseen, for as soon as the widow meets the man she really loves, with true feminine perverseness, she no longer desires him to be a sinner, but demands that he be a saint, a condition which the obliging author speedily arranges.

Perhaps the best thing about Miss Thompson's play is the fresh, womanly creature she has made of this widow. The character is a real, feminine woman, so surely so that her moods and actions are delightful to the extreme. In addition to this unusual touch of genuine femininity the author has given the dialogue a sparkle and brilliancy of rather decided literary quality. The principal fault with "In Search of a Sinner" is the using of stock characters of comedy and allowing these people astonishing privileges and liberties with other characters in the comedy.

Excepting Miss Russell, the company was not particularly pleasing. Joseph Tuohey, Olive Harper and Jessie Ralph stood out among the support because of the unusual nature of their roles. Needless to say these players played their parts to the extreme. Harry C. Browne was much too coarse in appearance and method for the role of the second-husband-to-be. Hattie Russell came the nearest of any of the cast to art acting.

One of the most attractive things about the Russell production was the stage setting of the first act which showed the palm room of a casino. It was one of the most pretentious, complete and pretty scenes offered here in many a month. The gowns worn by Miss Russell, forming as they do an important part of a Russell performance, deserve mention as usual.

SHIPPERS SAY WHAT MORGAN FIRM DIRECTS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Testimony instigated by George W. Perkins of J. P. Morgan and company, the New York syndicate that is said to finance and control many railroads of the country, analytic excoriation of crude manual and mechanical methods of business and drifting discussion of scientific principles of business featured today's freight increase hearing.

It was the second day of the presentation of the shippers argument before the interstate commerce commission on the suspension of proposed advances in the tariffs on a great quantity of the traffic moving over the entire official classification territory.

The railroads would like to put into operation advances in rates on freight the country over, and in line with this view it was suggested that part of the policy was to commit the shipping interests to testimony that there would be no complaint if the advances were made uniformly throughout the United States. The trunk line presidents have claimed that the increases are vital to their corporations.

A delegation of officials from the Grand Rapids furniture industries in Michigan appeared at the hearing. While voicing opposition to the present eastern trunk line advance plan they testified that they would have no complaint to make if the increase proposed were not confined to one section or otherwise discriminative.

Then through the prodding of Attorney Lyon of the commission, it was disclosed and admitted by two of the men called by the shippers, that the appearance of themselves and the other Grand Rapids people, representing many millions of dollars of investments, was at the suggestion of one of the heads of the Morgan syndicate who thought that as a matter of fairness the shippers should express their views.

What About the Consumer?

The testimony failed to show any suggestion from Mr. Perkins that the consumers also should present their views, though it was intimated that if the railroads and the shippers agreed as to the sweeping increases in freights of several thousand kinds, across the continent, with an aggregate addition of millions to the railroad earnings, the burden would rest upon the consumers.

President Henry M. Towne, a manufacturer and head of the Merchants association of New York, contended the railroads should first put their own house in order; as he expressed it; that they should install modern methods of business which was just as feasible with them as with other industries, and that if scientific management could not produce economies to meet the revenue needs then he would join with them in their demand for rate increases. He depicted in glowing terms the big business strides under scientific management.

Henry Van Riper Sheel, engaged in the manufacture of cotton in Passaic, N. J., also testified concerning the workings of that system and told of the bonus scheme at his plant whereby the weaver with a minimum bonus alone, might attain a weekly wage of $14.30.

The shippers' testimony will be continued tomorrow.

PLAYING CARDS AND OLEO ARE OFF COLOR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The government receipts from internal revenue touched another high mark in October and showed increases at all sources but two—playing cards and oleomargarine. Receipts from the new tobacco tax were more than $1,000,000 greater than in September and the taxes on fermented liquors increased $500,000. November also promises to make a good showing. The month so far is more than $1,000,000 ahead of the same month last year and the present fiscal year to date is $12,000,000 ahead of the last one.

SPLIT WITH UNIONS OF CANADA AVERTED

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 22.—A threatened split between the labor unions of the United States and Canada was smoothed over this afternoon in the American Federation of Labor by the action of President Samuel Gompers and his friends.

The discussion grew out of the report of the special committee on labor relations with Canada. This committee recommended the maintenance of the autonomy of international unions in Canada, conferred the sole right to the issuance of local union charters upon the Canadian Trades and Labor congress, and gives the Canadian provincial or central bodies the provision of affiliating with the American Federation of Labor.

President Gompers said that already 10 Canadian central bodies were affiliated with the federation and that the defeat of the section referred to would mean their withdrawal. The resolutions were adopted.

A resolution recommending that local unions throughout the United States affiliate immediately with the state and central bodies was adopted. The Western Federation of Miners' resolution which calls for the affiliation of that body with the federation, is set for tomorrow as a special order, and a vigorous fight is anticipated.

The resolution calling for a readjustment of the voting power of the delegates giving the state and central bodies equal representation with the international unions was defeated by a large majority.

A higher standard of salaries for teachers was urged in a resolution adopted.

SHOT AMERICANS TO KEEP STRIKE GOING

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 22.—After examination of several witnesses today, the state rested in the trial of the leaders of the cigar makers strike.

T. R. Fisher, a cigar box manufacturer, testified that several days after the shooting of J. F. Easterling, he had told De la Campa, head of the tobacco workers union, that the strikers were making a big mistake in shooting Americans and that De la Campa had replied:

"Well, I am sorry, but we had to take drastic steps to prevent the men from going to work."

INDEPENDENCE EXPLOSION INTERNATIONAL AFFAIR

DENVER, Nov. 22.—The explosion at the railroad depot at Independence, Colo., during the Cripple Creek strike in 1904 remains a diplomatic question between the United States and Norway. The Norwegian ambassador, O. Gude, several months ago notified the secretary of the United States that damages must be paid to Edward J. Holland, who was so injured in the explosion that amputation of both legs became necessary. A. A. Adee, acting secretary of state, has written to Governor Shafroth requesting him to assist the United States in learning the points in the case. Mr. Adee desires to know the history of the explosion, its cause and what efforts were made to apprehend and punish the perpetrators.

JUGGLING THE ENGLISH

From the Chicago Record-Herald.

That a little learning is a dangerous thing is illustrated in a price card put out by a north side grocery, whose juggling of the English language is something wonderful. Here's the first spasm:

"The Mission of our grocery dept. is to provide wholesome food of highest value at prices sufficiently low to enable the slenderest purse to afford luscerious food hitherto denied on account of high prices."

If you like that try the following on your piano:

"These low prices are unique and a surprise from the start for they glow with fervor and beam with light unsurpassed."

But the word artist is not yet finished. Listen.

"In these igniting low prices there burns throughout them an almost supernatural powerful flame that illuminates the sadest of hearts by not melting the slenderest of pocketbooks."

After catching his breath and taking a fresh grip on his pen the grocer writes:

"For two months we did not dare to issue a sale card for we feared we weren't capable of handling the great rush of orders and since our last sale caused a great number of our ideal customers to be disappointed we tried every way until we succeeded in adopting a system which we hope to be very prompt providing you will help us and mark every item plainly on a separate piece of paper. A post card or letter is preferable to telephone orders.

Fidelity to its purpose is the notable character of our undersealing very best of merchandise at the lowest possible selling price does fully justify our claim."

Then, lest you forget, he closes with the following gem.

"These slicing of prices appear as grave, wise or visionary in reality its sympathetic with our noble associates through whose sharing of confidence our footsteps in the commercial world are daily ascending."

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

A countryman who visited the national gallery stopped in front of a portrait which showed a man sitting in a high-backed chair. There was a small white card on the picture which read "A portrait of Edward Smith by himself."

The farmer read the card and then chuckled to himself. "Regular fools these city fellers are. Anybody who looks at that pictur 'ud know Smith was by himself. There ain't no one in the paintin' with him."

LODGE AND FOSS.

SENATOR LODGE of Massachusetts declines to reply to the demand of Governor-elect Foss that he withdraw as a candidate for re-election on the ground that Foss "does not represent the sentiment of the State." This remark of the supercilious Mr. Lodge is just a little funny when we recall that Foss was elected to Congress last spring by a majority of 5,000, reversing one of 15,000 given his Republican predecessor eighteen months previously, and that he has just been elected Governor of Massachusetts by a sweeping majority after a campaign on the tariff issue in which he vigorously denounced everything that Lodge stands for. If Foss does not represent the sentiment of Massachusetts at the present time no other man in the State can lay claim to that distinction, least of all Senator Lodge. Of course nobody expected Lodge to withdraw his candidacy merely on the demand of the Democratic leader; as a practical politician it is natural for him to fight it out as long as he has a chance, but the assertion here quoted shows that he either has not learned the lesson of the last election or is wilfully disregarding it.

THE FIGHT IN THE BAY STATE.

The tariff probably played a greater part in the Massachusetts campaign than in that of any other state. Insurgent feeling is by no means as keenly developed there as in the West and Middle West, but there has been pronounced dissatisfaction with the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill ever since it was passed. When death caused a vacancy in the Massachusetts Congressional district last spring the Democrats seized upon this feeling and played it as a winning card. Their nominee, Mr. Foss, stumped the district, denouncing the tariff law in general and Senator Lodge in particular, for Lodge was one of the framers of the bill and its stout defender. Foss won handily, which was rebuke number one for Lodge. Then the Democrats nominated him for Governor and he made a second campaign on the same issue, winning again as easily as before.

The Republicans got Roosevelt to stultify himself by going to Massachusetts to plead the cause of his friend Lodge, whose defeat, he said, would be nothing less than a national calamity. There are people unkind enough to say that the coat of whitewash which Roosevelt gave Lodge contributed largely to the Democratic victory. But whether or not this is so the fact remains that it was no more efficacious than Taft's boost for Tawney at Winona.

We have no desire to see the Senate made Democratic, nevertheless the retirement of Henry Cabot Lodge is one of the steps needful to make that body more representative of the people of the United States and less representative of high financial interests. Most of the group to which he belongs will be retired in the near future. Aldrich, Hale and Burrows, and it would be well both for Massachusetts and the nation if he were added to the list.

AEROPLANES IN WAR.

GENERAL JAMES ALLEN, chief signal officer of the Army, recommends in his annual report the purchase of twenty aeroplanes by the War Department. These craft, he says, should be used in regular practice at the various army posts, and camps of instruction maintained.

It is notable that while the United States government was the first to recognize the importance of the aeroplane for military uses, it has not kept pace with some of the European nations in the study and practical application of this means of offense and defense. More than two years ago the War Department made a contract with the Wrights for the purchase of one of their aeroplanes on condition that they comply with certain requirements, which were successfully met by Orville Wright in his demonstration at Fort Myer, near Washington. The machine was purchased and has since been used by the Signal Corps. But only one lieutenant and two enlisted men are on duty in connection with aeronautics, so there has been very little opportunity to make experiments which would show what could reasonably be done with aeroplanes in time of war.

Meanwhile other nations are developing this branch of the service rapidly. The French War department has a number of military aeroplanes which are used in the army maneuvers, and Orville Wright is now on his way to fulfil a contract with the German government for military aeroplanes. Even Great Britain, whose military standard is far below that of most of the European powers, is experimenting along this line.

THE DAY OF THE BIRD MAN.

Recent experiments have shown the correctness of the supposition as to the value of the aeroplane in war. A few weeks ago an aviator, flying across a field on which the outline of a battleship had been marked out, dropped dummy bombs on the target in such a way as to justify the conclusion that the feat could be performed successfully in war. People who saw the flights in Denver last week can imagine how hard it would be for a skilful marksman to hit either the aviator or the engine of an aeroplane in full flight, especially if it were 200 or 300 feet in the air. In actual practice the chances would favor the bird man, rather than his enemy on the ground, and for the price of one battleship a fleet of 2,000 aeroplanes could be equipped, any one of which could destroy the battleship.

The United States does not attempt to keep up a military establishment comparable in size to that of Japan or any of the European powers, but the efficiency of its army is probably as great as that of any other force in the world of equal size. The aeroplane is certain to be an important factor in the next war, and the American army ought at least to be as well trained in its use as any possible enemy.

A STANDPAT DISASTER.

From the Cleveland Leader.

Massachusetts defeated a fine example of the very best type of standpat Republican for governor, and elected all the rest of the Republican ticket. New Hampshire was carried for the Republican candidates headed by a pronounced progressive. In Connecticut and New Jersey, both states strongly Republican under ordinary circumstances, standpat tickets were defeated. The slump in standpat majorities was tremendous in Pennsylvania, much greater, in fact, than the Republican losses in New York, and only the enormous majority the Republican organization had to start with prevented a complete Democratic-Independent victory.

DISCIPLINE IN THE SCHOOLS.

From the Chicago Record-Herald.

Dr. C. H. Parkhurst of New York complains of the lack of discipline in our schools and colleges. We have had the same complaint nearer home. Teachers who are not much concerned over the fate of Greek are struggling daily with the problem of enforcing obedience and preserving order. They say that they are discouraged by authorities higher up whose business it seems to be to undermine authority. It is all very well to prohibit the brutal punishment of children but the substitution of a namby-pamby sentimentalism for sterner methods of correction is inexcusable and demoralizing. It is grossly unfair to the teacher, who has troubles enough at best without the struggle against a virtual alliance between the superior minds in the system and the parental susceptibilities that are just outside the system but that frequently slop over. It is the teacher who is now the victim of cruel if not unusual punishment. She has to put up with a defiance and insolence that would start a business man running amuck. The result is that her nerves are shattered and her teaching power is diminished and that the child who is the object of so much anxious consideration is injured not benefited. Let us spare the rod, by all means, but let us dispense also with flabbiness.

PASSING OF THE FAMILY BIBLE.

From the Boston Transcript.

It should be reassuring to those apprehensive of a religious decline to know that the Bible is still the best seller among books and that its distribution is being pushed even beyond the commercial point. No one need be without this guide to sanctity and correct living. If any are too poor or prize too lightly the possession of a copy to invest in one there are societies and special agencies that will put it into their hands without money and without price. It is sometimes easier to get a Bible than to get bread.

But there is a change in the method of presenting the Scriptures as there are changes in the fashions of more worldly things. There was a time not so many years ago when the family Bible was one of the most prized possessions of every well-regulated household. It was the proof of its religious standing, a guarantee of its respectability. It was the repository of family history containing the records of births, marriages and deaths and the roll in which the family tree had its roots. But a Philadelphia publishing house that makes a specialty of The Book states that the "family Bible," as it was formerly known, has now almost gone out of stock. A few copies are still made up, but the call for them is almost exclusively confined to the white districts of the very rural districts and the colored people of the South, who still retain old-fashioned ideas.

NOT GUILTY OF CONTRIBUTORY NEGLIGENCE.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer.

A case has just been decided in the court of appeals for the District of Columbia, which is of interest here. It was the case of a man who sustained injury by being thrown from the platform of a crowded street car and who sued for damages. In the court below he was defeated on the ground that in standing on the platform he was guilty of contributory negligence and could not, therefore, recover. Upon appeal, however, this judgment was reversed and the principle was laid down that in habitually permitting passengers to ride on the platforms of crowded cars the company had legitimized the practice and had forfeited the right to object that the passengers thus riding did so at their own risk.

It seems that in this particular case there were vacant seats within the car, but the court declared that this did not make any difference. If the company made it a rule to carry no more passengers than it could seat it might properly plead this circumstance as a bar to the action; but when it permitted passengers to ride on the platform at such times as suited its convenience, it must be assumed to have abrogated any regulation it may have issued to the contrary, and it must abide by the consequences of the custom whose introduction it had sanctioned. In other words, it must not play fast and loose with the rule of invoking it under some circumstances and ignoring it under others.

NEXT.

From Harper's Weekly.

And now, for nearly two years, the absorbing political topic will be the question of who will be, and who ought to be, the next Republican and Democratic candidates for the presidency. In the Democratic camp there will be a healthy rivalry. So much is assured by the character of the campaign which that party has at last been waging, and of the candidates it has at last been putting forward, in a number of important states. There is every reason to believe that the baleful dominance of a single personality in the party councils is ended. Let every good Democrat help to see to it that that sort of thing shall not occur again. On the other side, too, we may hope that, in case opposition to President Taft's renomination develops, the struggle will be open and above board. But there is still, as for many years a difficulty in the way, a temptation to unfairness and secrecy and corruption. We refer, of course, to the situation in most of the southern states, where the little Republican machines, headed by their several "referees," although they are utterly unrepresentative and although they never secure a single vote in the electoral college, can nevertheless name something like a third of the delegates to Republican national conventions. We do not believe the country will much longer permit the national managers of the Republican party to deal with that situation in the culpable manner in which they have been dealing with it for 40 years.

A FEW DON'TS.

Don't talk about the prize you'll win, or how you will pursue it, for boasts are like the clank of tin; don't talk—get down and do it. Don't say you'll cut the habits out, that make your friends uneasy; just turn your conduct face about—for talk is cheap and wheezy. About your seedy clothes don't talk, and say you'll soon be tony; go get the sort of duds that knock—for promises are phoney. Don't make some wild and foolish break and then beg people's pardon; such conduct makes them fairly ache to plant you in the garden. Don't try to tell a funny tale to friends who may be busy, or they will say you'd be in jail if peelers were not dizzy. Don't talk about your own concerns to one who's in a hurry; he doesn't care three tinkers' derns about your woe and worry. Don't blow a damp, hang-over breath into your neighbors' faces, or they will wish that Colonel Death would take you where his place is. Don't talk, unless the thing you'd say is truly worth the trouble; for work's the stuff that puts up hay, and talk is but a bubble.

Walt Mason

The Daily Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

A well-known magazine in its September issue published a list of all the girls' boarding schools which had advertised in its pages during the last year.

Appalled at the length of the list, I took the time and trouble to count it.

THERE WERE 176.

Think of that!

And those figures represent, of course, just the schools that advertised in one magazine.

They do not include the schools that advertised in the hundreds of other magazines in the United States.

They do not include the schools which do not advertise at all.

Perhaps you wonder why I said "appalled" above.

Perhaps you wonder why I mention this list anyway.

I'll tell you. Just this. Those figures give us a little idea of the tremendous extent to which the American mother is getting the habit of turning her young daughters over to strangers to bring up.

A friend of mine wrote me last summer to ask if I could give her any advice as to a good boarding school to which she might send her 14-year-old daughter to prepare her for college.

I wrote back to inquire just what duties made it impossible for her to keep that daughter—a headstrong, sensitive, brilliant little creature, as much in need of the intuition and guidance that love alone can give as any girl ever was—right where she belonged, under her own wing.

I haven't heard from her since. I am afraid she was offended at my plain speaking.

But I would do it again.

I am a firm believer in sending the 17 or 18-year-old girl away to college. I believe that the advantages a girl of that age derives from looking out for herself, darning her own stockings, making her own decisions, ordering her own life, outweigh the disadvantages—and I admit there are plenty of these—of college life.

But to send a girl 12 or 13 or 14 years old away from home—to give to outsiders this most plastic and sensitive period of her life, to trust to strangers that most delicate process, the molding of girlhood into womanhood, to be separated from a child at the time when so many instincts are awakening, so many wonders are demanding satisfaction—well, I can scarcely understand the mother who could do it.

And yet by the showing of 176 schools advertising in a single magazine, it looks as if there must be plenty of such women.

And just think, one of these schools actually offered to take girls from kindergarten age to college.

One hears many protests against the way on which the wealthy mother lives over the care of her little baby to a nursemaid or trained nurse.

Personally, I don't think she does as much harm or runs as much risk as the mother who is willing to find in the open maw of the boarding school a solution of her difficulties in molding her young daughters moral and character.

Do you?

THE HASHER'S AU REVOIR

November winds blow raw and chill
And maples their beauty have shed.
Pikes Peak doth sport his winter togs
While the tourists all have fled.

Fair Manitou lies wrapped in gloom,
Little Lunnon placid and dull;
A waiter's job is on the blink
Unless he's got a pull;

So I'm off on a winter's round-up
To follow the tourist trail;
Perhaps down south, at a bayou's mouth
Or some Montezuma vale.

Maybe, to old St. Augustine,
Where soft winds babble and coo,
Or perchance to roam to a distant foam
To Catalina's sun-wrapped blue.

So, good bye dear old Broadmoor,
"Bib and tucker" a brief farewell.
And here's a scuttle of suds to the Antlers
With good luck to the M. and L.

Where'er I jaunt this truth will flaunt
Pikes Peak spells little heaven;
And it's canvass back to dish rags
On being back in nineteen 'leven.

From the Chicago Record-Herald.

Just before high school closed Bertha's English teacher had a party for his star class in themes. Every one was delighted, for the teacher was the idol of the class. Bertha was particularly pleased, for there she would see two very good friends, boy friends, and she would have a perfectly splendid time—she knew she would.

Happily, one, Egbert, by name, asked if he might take her to the party and she consented—reluctantly, of course, just for policy's sake.

That night at the party Bertha was having a gay time with her classmates, the two boys in particular.

In the parlor conversation lulled, and in an effort to free themselves from any responsibility they sought the porch as a retreat.

They sat in the soft light and chatted in low tones. Suddenly they stopped talking—they were conscious of some one's approach on the walk in front of them. They were silent.

A queer looking woman, very peculiarly dressed, passed by.

Bertha was impressed by the woman's oddity, and so, for want of something better to say, she remarked:

"Well, I wonder who that crazy freak is!"

Mack was silent a moment, then replied:

"That was my mother!"

They didn't know what to say, so she suggested that they go in the house.

Many years passed. Bertha moved west and didn't see Mac after that night. One evening she and her sister called on a friend in the village that she now called home.

A nephew of the hostess was visiting her. She introduced the girl to him, but Bertha didn't catch his name. In some way they began to talk about "breaks" and Bertha began to tell about the terrible one she made years ago when she was in high school.

She noticed that the boy looked rather queer, but she paid no attention and continued with her story. When she had finished the nephew spoke up and said:

"Yes, it was my brother to whom you said that!"

The lad had recognized the story and Bertha name.

A month later Bertha was on the train and met an elderly gentleman who told her his name. It was the same as that of the nephew, but Bertha didn't connect them. It was the name that reminded her of the funny and yet sad breaks she had made to the brothers.

Never dreaming that this man was associated with or related to the same family, she proceeded to tell the stories.

"Yes, I remember hearing the boys tell about it—it was my wife of whom you spoke!"

And they laughed heartily at the very peculiar coincidence, but Bertha was careful after that and never told of the breaks again—but tried to lose them from her stock of stories.

THE MEXICAN FLAG

From the Mexican Herald.

The Mexican flag, whose colors are white, green and red, representing religious purity, unity and independence, had its origin in what was styled "three guarantees," which were the principal clauses of the "Plan of Iguala," published February 24, 1820, by Agustin de Iturbide, afterward Emperor of Mexico.

RECEIVER ASKED FOR INSURANCE COMPANY ON CHARGE OF FRAUD

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—Receivers for the German National Insurance company, reorganized from the German Mutual Benefit association, were asked in circuit court today by Mrs. Catherine Rickerimann, a policyholder. She charges fraud in management and in the transfer of the assets of the old company to the new at the time of the reorganization.

Specifically, she avers in her plea that the directors of the old company confederated to appropriate the reserve and emergency funds of the old company, and that to secure concurrence by the 4,580 members in Illinois, Wisconsin and Iowa, the directors suppressed the alleged fact they were to be insured on a different basis in the new company.

The bill further charges that since the organization of the new company it has refused to pay death claims of members of the old company except when the beneficiaries have agreed to accept a fractional amount in the old policy.

WOMEN TEACHERS GET "BLACK HAND" LETTER

PUEBLO, Nov. 22.—Three women teachers at the Pleasantview school, four miles east of Pueblo, have been greatly alarmed as the result of receiving a "black hand" letter a few days ago, and officers are working on the case.

The substance of the letter was to the effect that the teachers were getting too much of the people's money and they were asked to leave $150 in the school house window last Friday night under penalty of death. The letter was signed "Black Hand" and was written apparently by a foreigner.

The sheriff was notified and officers were stationed near the school all of Friday night, but the package remained untouched. The school is located in an Italian settlement.

Tiger and Terror Teams Should Both Win Tomorrow

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR BIG CONTEST AT LONGMONT

Coach Coffin's High School Terrors are off for Longmont this morning, where they fight for the highest scholastic football honors in the state tomorrow afternoon.

This game, as was the one against Lamar last Saturday, will find the Terrors giving a handicap in both weight and age and experience. To offset this the High School lads have come to the front this season with a display of grit and nerve that pulled them through two of their hardest fights, and there are many in Colorado Springs who believe that the eleven will return on Friday with the state banner.

There is so much interest in the outcome of the High School-Longmont game that the Colorado & Southern will run a special train to the battlefield tomorrow, leaving Colorado Springs at 8 o'clock in the morning. The special will leave Longmont on the return trip tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock.

Already many reservations have been made on the Longmont special, and from present indications there will be hundreds of men and women and students from the High School both young men and young women, on board. The parents and relatives of many of the players on the Terror team will make the trip, and in addition practically the entire faculty of the High School will be numbered among the football enthusiasts.

Coach Coffin had his charges out on the field last evening for the final workout before the closing game of the season. The Terrors were still somewhat stiff and sore as a result of the grueling game with Lamar on Saturday, but toward the close of the practice they got into the game in their accustomed whirlwind style.

With the exception of Captain Chase, whose shoulder still bothers him, the Terror team is in good condition, or will be by the time the referee's whistle sets the state championship game under way.

The High School realizes that Longmont, twice winners of the state championship, is equally strong this year, and that they will have to put up the best game of the season to bring the pennant to Colorado Springs. Friends of the school believe that with an even break in football luck the Terrors will take the honors.

LONGMONT IS ANXIOUS FOR TERROR GAME

LONGMONT, Nov. 22.—The Longmont-Colorado Springs game for the interscholastic championship of the state outside of Denver, which will be played here on Thanksgiving day, is the cause of much enthusiasm. It is termed by the rooters here as "Brother Against Brother," or the "Coffin Family Reunion."

Roy Coffin, a former coach of the Longmont team, is the coach of the Springs Terrors. Claire Coffin, a younger brother, is the coach of the Pie Eaters. Claude Coffin, an elder brother of the two, will be either referee or umpire. Vinton Coffin, the youngest of the brothers, will be field judge, and it is reported that Pa Coffin will be assistant to the head linesman. Mrs Roy Coffin and Ruby Coffin, the only sister of the Coffin boys, will be rival yell leaders, one leading the cheering for the Terrors and the other for the Longmont boys. In view of all these facts the question naturally arises. Which team will need a coffin when the game is played?

The game promises to be the best ever played between the two schools. Both Roy and Claire Coffin have developed the new style of play to a great extent, their teams having used the forward pass, shift plays, on-side kicks and field goals to quite a large extent this season. The Springs team will probably outweigh the locals by a small margin, but the difference is not enough to give them any great advantage.

The local team has a few cripples, but they are rapidly rounding into shape and will all be ready to play the game of their lives on Thanksgiving day. The local rooters were sorry to hear of the injury to Captain Cheese of the Springs team in the Lamar game on Saturday, and all hope he will be able to be in the lineup Thursday.

CORNELL CAPTAIN MAY NOT PLAY TOMORROW

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 22.—Captain Simson of the Cornell football team probably will not be able to play against Pennsylvania in the annual game in Philadelphia Thanksgiving day. He was called to his home at North Tonawanda, N. Y., today by a telegram which said his father is dying. Wilson, the substitute fullback, will start the game in the absence of Simson.

TRADE IN SEA-WORN PEBBLES

From the London Daily Mail.

A new industry is being started in Seaton which will provide employment for people in the winter. At present a large business is transacted in sea-worn pebbles which are imported from the French coast, and it is hoped to capture part of this trade.

Trial orders from several large users of the pebbles are on hand and gangs of men are engaged in selecting the pebbles from the beach at Seaton and the neighboring villages.

TIGERS GO TO DENVER ON EVE OF GREAT CONTEST; BIG BATTLE SET FOR TOMORROW

A squad of twenty-five football men trotted from Washburn field last evening for the last time this season. Coach Rothgeb was the last to leave the gridiron where for two months he has been preparing his Tiger kittens for what has been regarded all along as the hardest game of the year that with Denver university tomorrow afternoon at Broadway park.

If the coach is satisfied with the team he did not say so in as many words. "My work is done," he said "and on Thursday it is up to the men themselves. I have tried to teach good football and if the team plays the game of which it is capable, if it put up the fight that it has in the other hard games, we will hold Denver safe."

Rothgeb with the first eleven and a string of substitutes will go to Denver early this morning. The bulk of Colorado Springs football enthusiasts, however, will not depart for the big Thanksgiving day game until tomorrow morning when the Denver & Rio Grande will run its football special, leaving here at 8 20 o'clock.

The Tigers are fit for the best game of the season. They are not overconfident but every man feels that the team has the class and the spirit to win. A big rally was held last night, probably one of the most enthusiastic in the history of the college and short speeches were made by Coach Rothgeb, Manager Fowler, Captain Vandemoer and every member of the team. Enthusiasm was at the highest pitch and new songs and cheers that will be used to urge the Tigers on to victory tomorrow were rehearsed.

The football special tomorrow, in addition to carrying hundreds of students and townspeople will also have on board the Elks band, which will lead the songs and other features in the Colorado College section at Broadway park. The big capering tiger that caused so much comment by his antics at the Mines game, will also be taken to Denver tomorrow morning.

The following players will be taken to Denver today by Coach Rothgeb: Thompson, left end, Bowers, left tackle, Hedblom, left guard; Withrow, center, Black, right guard, Cook, right tackle, Sinton, right end, Reed, quarterback, Vandemoer, right halfback, Heald, left halfback; Acker, fullback, Putnam, sub quarterback, Scott, sub fullback, Le Clere, utility; Floyd, sub tackle or halfback; Dickson, sub halfback, Haight, sub guard.

Edward C. Day, commenting in the Times on the probable outcome of the game, says that the Tigers have a shade on Denver. In a grueling contest such as the Thanksgiving day game promises to be, it is a 100-to-1 shot that more then one of the 22 players will be forced to retire.

Colorado College can lose several of its regulars and still not be badly crippled, as several members of the Tigers' second team are eligible to play and can well fill any hole that may be made in the lineup. Added to this is the fact that the Denver squad is in none too good condition. The Utah game had a telling effect on the players. Curtis and Bailey, two of the regulars, were not fit to play when they entered the contest, and the grueling they received did not help matters any. Large also is in poor shape.

Looking at the situation from the standpoint of comparative scores against other Rocky mountain elevens, the Tigers again show to advantage. The Utah contests especially are cited by supporters of C. C. in proof of the assertion that the Springs eleven is superior. The Tigers whipped the Mormons on their own grounds by a score of 21 to 17. Utah blanked Denver and ran up 20 points to its own credit while doing so.

On the other hand, there are some bright spots in the record of D. U. since the opening of the season. The playing of Marquette to a scoreless tie was a feat well worthy of note. After this Denver went to Nebraska and lost, 27 to 6, but came back the next week and decisively defeated the School of Mines team. It was a week ago Saturday that they suffered at Utah's hands, and now football followers are wondering whether or not they will come back Thursday.

One feature promised by the contest is a battle royal between Captain Crowley of D. U. and Captain Vandemoer of C. C. Many believe that on the work of these two depends which team will be returned a winner.

Yale defeated Princeton by keeping Pendleton "covered." Old Eli went into the game with orders to "cover" the speedy halfback of Princeton at all hazards. Every time he made a move there were three or more Yale men on his heels. The other members of the backfield were guarded, of course, but the brunt of the Blue's attack was directed toward Pendleton. The result was that Princeton lost heart and incidentally the game.

In Thursday contest the team that best succeeds in keeping Crowley or Vandemoer "covered" will probably carry off the prize.

Compared man for man there is not a great deal of difference between the two elevens, and they are likely to play much the same sort of football. If a kicking game is played the result of the struggle will hinge upon the manner in which the punts are returned.

Walker and Crowley will no doubt accept the punts for Denver, with Vandemoer and Reed back for Colorado. All four men are consistent and reliable. The Colorado Springs pair have the edge when speed is considered.

All in all, the backfield of the two elevens seems to be even. Vandemoer is a faster and more flashy player than Crowley, but the latter is probably the more consistent ground gainer and can always be counted upon when a gain of two or three yards is necessary to make a down. On the other hand, Vandemoer is likely to pull off a long run and has to be constantly watched.

Koonsman perhaps has the call over Acker at full, while Heald is considered by many to be a more classy player than Bailey. The quarterback position looks to be very even. Walker may have a slight advantage, owing to his weight and ground-gaining ability.

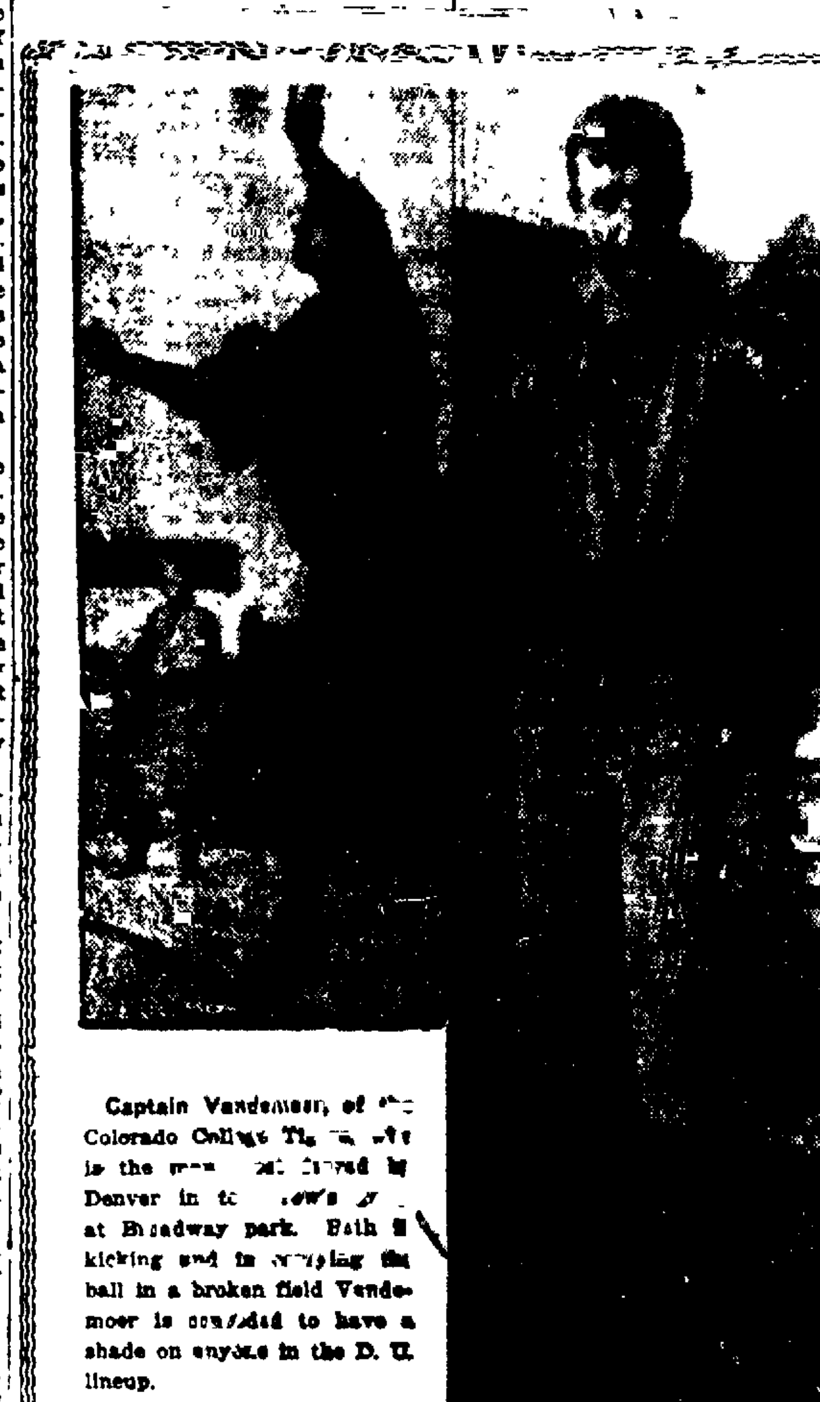

The real test of the game will be in the line. If either the Tigers or Ministers show a decided weakness in the line it is likely to work havoc. It is generally conceded that both backfields will be able to take care of their share of the work. The result of the game is largely up to the linemen.

From tackle to tackle the Ministers will weigh 857 pounds, the Tigers 820. This difference of 37 pounds scattered through five players will cut little figure. It will largely depend upon the fighting spirit of the men who are matched against each other.

At the ends the Tigers have a slight advantage. Sinton and Thompson are two of the best men in the state, and it is the popular supposition that they have the call over Large and Herbert.

"Iota" Reed, quarterback on the Tiger team, upon whose generalship in handling his eleven the success of tomorrow's game against Denver largely depends. Reed handles the ball quickly and cleanly and his speed in getting off plays against the Denverites will be an important factor in the great Thanksgiving struggle.

Captain Vandemoer, of the Colorado College Tigers, who is the man [illegible] Denver in [illegible] at Broadway park. Both in kicking and in carrying the ball in a broken field Vandemoer is considered to have a shade on anyone in the D. U. lineup.

CHICAGO CLUB FINED FOR 'DUPING' BASEBALL FANS

CINCINNATI, Nov. 22.—Because brothers of John Evers and Arthur Hofman represented those players when the Chicago National league club played at Ottumwa, Iowa, on September 9, the National Baseball commission today fined the Chicago club $200. The claim of the Ottumwa management for damages was disallowed because the home team allowed the game to go on and profited by it. The commission's findings says in part:

"The attention of the commission was called to this case by F. T. Lynch, president of the Ottumwa club. He charges that the club and its patrons were deliberately duped by the Chicago National league club and that the prices of admission on the assurances that the Chicago club would send the best lineup that Manager Chance could muster, were fixed at $1 and $1.25 each.

"The Chicago club, which was offered $600 guarantee with the privilege of 50 per cent of the gross receipts was paid $1,505 as its part of the receipts.

President Lynch states that many persons traveled more than 100 miles in the expectation of seeing Chicago's star players and that the patrons were indignant on discovering that the Chicago club worked many substitutes. It also developed that instead of John Evers and Arthur Hofman being on the field each of these famous players was impersonated by a young brother, without even minor league baseball ability.

"The Ottumwa club submitted in its testimony a photograph of a page of the register of the hotel at Ottumwa, on which the names of the Chicago party appeared in the same handwriting. Among these names are J. Evers and A. Hofman, neither of whom was in the city. The clerk of the hotel sends a sworn statement that the names were entered on the register by the representative of the Chicago club. This false registration corroborates the charge of the Ottumwa club that the Chicago club was guilty of gross misrepresentation.

"If the Chicago club, as claimed by President Murphy, was unable to [illegible] a representative or a team that was some semblance of its regular [illegible] the Ottumwa team should have been so advised and thereby offered the chance to call off the game or at least to notify the public, thereby eliminating the fraudulent features of this transaction.

"President Murphy's [illegible] that some of his players were disabled and others required rest does not clear his club of the charge of misrepresentation.

"The commission hereby gives notice on all National association clubs that when a major league club presents a makeshift team for an exhibition game, the proper course for a minor league club to pursue is to cancel the game and apply to the commission for redress. If the charge of fraud and injustice is substantiated by evidence, damages will be [illegible] a sum not less than the amount of the guarantee demanded by the major league club for that game."

GOOD SCORES BY BOWLERS

Twenty-one bowlers shot for the head pin in the second round in the sweepstakes tournament at the Brunswick last night, and there was a notable increase in the size of the scores. Michigan and Minnesota Have Played Last Game of Football

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn, Nov. 22.—That Minnesota will not meet Michigan on the gridiron next year was practically made certain here when the University of Minnesota yesterday officially asked the conference teams to hold annual games next June.

It has been well understood here that Minnesota could not renew football relations with Michigan and still stick to the conference. None of the college athletic boards in any of the conference colleges was consulted about the Michigan games two years ago, and lately Minnesota has received strong intimations from the other conference colleges that it must choose between the conference and Michigan. Minnesota decided in favor of the conference.

This turn of affairs will eliminate the biggest football game on Minnesota's schedule, but it is thought that other advantages to be gained in the conference will more than offset this. There is no question but that the undergraduates will demand revenge from Michigan, but the controlling members of the faculty board are said to be strongly for the conference, and that will probably end it. There is still a possibility, however, that Michigan may come into the conference, in which case everything would be peaceful and Minnesota might then get a chance to play Michigan again.

Speaking of the cost of living, it is noted by the Hartford Courant that not so many years ago it was difficult to sell a swordfish out side of the Boston market. This season it is difficult to get enough to meet the demand. It is said that the supply is less than usual. One reason assigned for this alleged scarcity is that the submarine bells have frightened the big fish off their accustomed grounds, which grounds, by the way, are water. It appears now that within a couple of days a swordfish weighing 550 pounds was brought into Boston and sold at 22 cents a pound right off the boat, the retailer to get his profit later.

Boulder Says Nothin' Doin

BOULDER, Colo., Nov. 22.—Coach Folsom said today that the University of Colorado football team would disband after the Thanksgiving game with the School of Mines in Denver, Thursday, and that his team had no further plans for the season. This sets at rest rumors that Colorado would meet Denver or Colorado College in post-season games.

Coaches Folsom and Castleman and General Manager Weinberger are looking for challenges from either Denver or Colorado College after Thanksgiving day, depending on which school wins the game next Thursday. Colorado College made the proposition to Colorado's representatives last week that "if their team was in condition after the Denver university game Colorado College would be glad to meet Colorado in Denver in a post-season game."

This is taken to mean that they would be willing to play if they win the game. The negotiations [illegible] at an end at the joint meeting of the university and the college, however, and they will not be renewed.

The varsity football team has about completed training for the Colorado-Mines game. Every man is in fine fettle, with the exception of John Rich and Harry Stocker. Rich is suffering from a sore foot. He played the game at Fort Collins Saturday, however, and was said to feel none the worse for it. Stocker will not don a uniform again this season. His foot is still sore and he is lame as a result.

The team fared well in the game with the Aggies. The sore arms of Davenport, Cooper and Mills were a handicap to them, but they did not allow the inflamed members to bother them much. The vaccination [illegible] were swollen not a little because of minor bruises, but they will be as good as new by Thursday.

The entire first team, with the exception of Harry Stocker, will be in the game with the Miners. The same lineup used against the Aggies will be seen at Union park Thursday afternoon. The backs will be McFadden, Carmichael and Rich. The latter will do the kicking, as he did in the Utah game. If the play is close he will be depended on to win by booting the ball from the field between the goal posts.

China has received from France its first guillotine. It will be set up inside the new prison, as, according to recent regulations, executions will no longer be public. The penalty of death, as laid down in the old code, had six degrees—death by torture, immediate decapitation and exhibition of the head, immediate decapitation without exhibition of the head, decapitation after some months, immediate hanging and hanging after some months. According to the new code, the death penalty is in four degrees: immediate decapitation, deferred decapitation, immediate hanging and deferred hanging.

TWO NEW VEINS OF UNUSUAL RICHNESS AT CRIPPLE CREEK

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Nov. 22.—The Oro claim of the Colorado Springs Gold Mining company, operated under lease by the Spur-Daisy Gold Mining company, is the scene of a rich discovery, and the mine will shortly take rank with the producers of the Iron-clad hill section.

The lease covers a five-year term, and before carrying out any prearranged plan of development, Supt. J. W. Smith determined to make a thorough examination of the old workings. In the 100-foot level south of the shaft the superintendent secured pay values from a narrow seam, and, by drifting on this vein, he has opened up four feet of ore that will ship as broken and pay handsomely.

With the last round or two of shots a rich streak has been exposed in the middle of the vein, and this core, from two to six inches wide, yesterday returned the high value of 32.48 ounces gold, or $649.60 to the ton. This high-grade streak will be carefully mined and the ore will be sacked. Crosscuts have been started from the 200 and 250 foot levels to reach out under the ore shoot, and, should the shoot prove continuous at depth, steady production will result.

The leasing company stockholders are, for the most part, residents of Peabody, Kas. and Pilot Mound, Ia.

Orpha May Discovery.

The Inman brothers and Davey, sub-lessees, operating a block of ground at the 500-foot level of the Orpha May mine on Bull hill, one of the Stratton estate properties, drifting north toward the Last Dollar mine, have encountered a rich shoot at the junction of the main Orpha May vein with a cross fissure. A narrow seam of quartz next the foot wall of the cross vein has returned values by assay test as high as 200 ounces gold, or $4,000 to the ton, while the four to six feet of ore at the junction will ship at close to two ounces to the ton without sorting. Yesterday the lessees sacked about 30 pounds of ore they estimate to be worth $2 to the pound.

Stratton's Independence Lessees

Forty-four sets of lessees are now engaged in the main shaft and on surface workings of Stratton's Independence, and the production resulting will compare favorably with the output when the mine was operated on company account. The concentrating plant is slowly increasing the tonnage, and the 9,000-ton-a-month mark will shortly be reached. The plant is operating at profit, according to the London reports. No information is given out locally.

Middagh Lease Ships.

The Middagh lease on the El Paso property on Beacon hill, operated through the Australian tunnel, was shipping yesterday from the new ore house constructed at the mouth of the tunnel. This lease is reputed to be one of the best paying leases of the estate.

Last Dollar Production.

Cary and Knight of Colorado Springs, operating the Last Dollar mine on Bull hill, now have 10 sets of sublessees at work, and the production will approximate 200 tons a week. All of the operators are working on ore, and the ore shipped range from low milling to high-grade smelting ore.

MARKET FALLS INTO DESIRED QUIETNESS

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—The stock market sank into deeper neglect today and the price fluctuations narrowed correspondingly. This quietness is considered seasonable and desirable by the banking element.

In the opinion of bankers and financiers of authority the primary requisite on the New York money market is to find means for taking up bond issues, which are in contemplation by the great railroad corporations. An active stock market speculation which should take up banking resources as fast as they are released from the task of moving the crop would interfere with coming bond flotations.

The London stock market was in some such mood also in the presence of the political contest which confronts Great Britain. The Mexican situation was not without a disquieting effect on speculative sentiment. In the home field the unsettled outlook in the steel trade is a potent factor in the speculative situation. Reports today of a cut in prices of structural steel by the Carnegie company were current.

An interview with Chairman Hill of the Great Northern railway was not calculated to stimulate speculative enthusiasm. The annual report presented by the executive committee of the Railway Business association also was circulated and the industrial prospect which it painted was not of a cheering effect on sentiment, although allowance was made for the effect intended in strengthening the railroads' contention for higher freight rates. Money conditions were not materially changed.

Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $1,714,000.

U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

ARGENTINE DROUGHT LOSSES LIFT WHEAT

CHICAGO, Nov. 22. Drought losses as great as 30 per cent to the wheat crop near Bahia Blanca in Argentina, put up the price of wheat here today. The market closed strong at a net advance of ⅝@¾c to 1⅛c. Corn made an irregular finish, ⅛@⅜c down to ⅛@¼c up, oats were ⅛c to ⅛@¼c higher than last night, and provisions varied from 10c gain to 12½c decline.

Argentine news was the chief factor in the wheat pit from the start. After a strong opening there was a temporary reaction due to corn weakness, but a fresh grist of dispatches from South America brought out important buying. Almost at the same time export sales of 40 boatloads were reported from the Atlantic seaboard. Considerable interest was taken meanwhile in statements that California dealers were buying here, and it was also said that there had been foreign purchases of considerable size.

The nervousness of shorts became more and more evident and prices at the end of the session were within a shade of the highest of the day. The range for the May option, taking trade as a whole, was from 96@96⅛c to 97⅛c, with last sales 1@1⅛c net higher at 97⅛@¼c. Corn dropped to a lower level today than for several years. May fluctuated from 46@46⅛c to 46⅝@46⅝c, closing firm a shade up at 46½@⅝c. The cash market was weak. No. 2 yellow finished at 51¼@⅜c.

There was a good trade in oats at prices governed by corn. May reached an extreme low and high figures, 33½c and 33⅞c, with the close at the last named quotations of ⅛c compared with 24 hours previous.

Provisions, except lard, were firm. Last sales were 5c to 10c higher for pork; 2½c to 12½c off for lard, and 5c advance for ribs.

THE "HOBBLE" SKIRT

West Indian Island Women Have Worn Them for Generations.

From the Detroit News.

Every shift of fashion is heralded as something new, but the "hobble" skirt, like the mammoth hat, is an invention of old and constant use. It has been the fashion in most of the West Indian islands for generations. Everywhere on country byways in the islands one meets native women of color, shoeless and sockless, paddling along the dusty road. Many of them have bundles on their heads and some have burdens in both hands. Their waist line is merely indicated by a belt of ample span at the point where the skirts begin. At some intermediate point between the belt and the bottom of the skirt they wear a stout cord, sometimes a fragment of a clothesline. In their travels across country they frequently ford streams, or traverse expanses of tall grass soaked with the heavy dew of the tropics morning and evening. Whenever occasion requires they pull their skirts high enough to clear the wet or the brambles and hold them in place by tightening the "hobble" cords. Although the consequence is a rather liberal display of nature unadorned, the skirts are kept dry. But the cord compels them to resort to a peculiar gait and presently we may see our ladies of high society indulging the "hobbling glide" after the fashion of the West Indian woman. The principal difference is that the "hobble" skirt is a convenient utility with West India women, while with the women of fashion it is only a passing affliction.

The Italian government plans to spend $2,000,000 for an aerial navy and to attach experienced aviators to its foreign embassies to study what other nations are doing along that line.

FOR SALE Real Estate

YOU HAVE HEARD the old, old story of "Why Pay Rent" until sometimes you really believe you require the services of a physician or the proverbial "Philadelphia lawyer" to answer the question for you. We are not going to ask you "Why you pay rent," but we are going to tell you about a HOME BARGAIN in an 8 room, modern (except heat) house that is well located, that you can buy for $1,750 part time, part cash. If after investigating this property, you don't buy it, we have no objection to your still buying rent receipts for, really, it's none of our business what you do with your money. Better come and let us show you this place.

LEGAL PROFUNDITY

From the Lincoln State Journal.

A newly made magistrate was gravely absorbed in a formidable document. Raising his keen eyes, he said to the man who stood patiently awaiting the award of justice: "Officer, what is this man charged with?"

"Bigotry, your worship. He's got three wives," replied the officer.

The new justice rested his elbows on the desk and placed his finger tips together. "Officer," he said, somewhat sternly, "what's the use of all this education, all these evening schools, all the technical classes and what not? Please remember, in any future like case, that a man who has married three wives has not committed bigotry, but trigonometry. Proceed."

PHONOGRAPHS RUN 170 HOURS "MUSICAL" WAR OF FAMILIES

Machines of Philadelphia Neighbors Grind Day and Night and End Is Not in Sight.

From the Washington Post.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—For four years Philadelphia has had "a war of phonographs," and the end is not in sight. Harry Le Dane and his next door neighbor, Fletcher Downs, are owners of the rival phonographs.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon the Le Dana phonograph had been grinding out "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly" for 170 hours at a stretch. Le Dane and his wife took turns winding the machine and replacing the records. Next door it was the same way, with the exception that the tune was "Amarica."

The row started when Mrs. Downs, with her piano, endeavored to break the noise-making proclivities of the Le Dana phonograph. She was not a good endurance player, so her husband had to purchase a phonograph. Now the two machines grind day and night.

The neighbors declare that the families ... their differences ... will apply to the police.
